

Wednesday Study Groups

Wednesdays from 1:00-2:30 PM
in the Learning Center

Students that currently work with Ms. Kelley for Executive Functioning skills are available to come to campus on Wednesday afternoons from 1:00-2:30 PM to work specifically on study skills and strategies. This will be an opportunity to teach skills around managing the materials provided for studying as well as providing a space and time to ask questions.

- Research Paper Process
- Quiz and Test Preparation
- Long Term Project management

Focus of this time will be on:

- How to access all Schoology materials provided by the classroom teacher
- Students will have access to adults (teachers and Learning Specialists) for content specific questions
 - For example: A student that knows they will be coming to campus on Wednesday for the study group may want to email their teacher in advance and ask if they would be available to stop by the Academic Center to answer a question.
- Students will walk away with at least one strategy or next step that can be implemented after leaving the study group
- Students will have access to working with other students in their class
 - For example: If other students studying for the same exam attend the Wednesday group, these students will have the opportunity to work in a small group, together, to review and build study materials/platform together

Parent Information:

- This is just one day of test preparation and studying, your child will still need to block out time to review, practice, and ask questions before the test! If you have questions about how to structure homework time at home, please contact your student's Learning Specialist directly.
