Improving Attention

Use the Look-Snap-Connect method to sharpen your attention skills. When your attention is distracted it is difficult to remember what you saw or heard. Practicing focusing your attention will help your memory!

Unrelated Word Pairs

Practice generating images that would help you to remember the following word pairs. Remember, the more exaggerated, dramatic, or elaborate the images, the more likely you are to remember the pairs of words.

MOON – COW
ROCK – PLATE
CAR – EGG
PUMPKIN – MOUSE
BLUEBERRY – ROAD
BALLOON – CAT
MOUNTAIN – MUFFINS
DAISY – TIRES
MONKEY - CROWN
CHICKEN – RIBBON
Here are some examples of the sentences we made to connect the above word pairs. Remember, the more outrageous the images you use to connect the words, the more likely you are to remember the word-pair.

   COW jumping over the MOON.

   A large ROCK dropping onto your favorite china PLATE, smashing it to pieces

   A CAR – like a shining black Mercedes, with hundreds of runny EGGS on it

   A gigantic, furry MOUSE sitting or perched on a bright orange PUMPKIN

   Hundreds of BLUEBERRIES piled high in the ROAD

   An orange tabby CAT floating above your head, with several BALLOONS tied to its body

   A tall MOUNTAIN made of yummy MUFFINS

   A colorful, huge DAISY in place of your hubcaps on your TIRES

   A hairy MONKEY wearing a sparkling CROWN on his head

   A CHICKEN wearing a bright red RIBBON around its neck

Face-Name Mnemonic

Remembering faces and names can be challenging. Use the pictures below to practice the techniques you learned in the workshop. As a reminder, follow these three steps to develop your own face-name mnemonic.

1. Identify a prominent feature of someone’s face.
2. Transform the person’s name into a concrete saying or name that you can remember.
3. Form an outrageous, exaggerated image associating the facial feature with the transformed name.

Name: Roger Blatt
Name: Shawn Farrow
