

UPPER SCHOOL GLOBAL SCHOLARS HONORS DESIGNATION

In 2014, Holton established the Global Scholar honors designation for students with an interest in global issues and international affairs. Upper School students interested in this program take a specialized global curriculum, including four years of world language study, the Global Issues and Perspectives course, participation in a Holton Junior Journey, and completion of a capstone Senior Project focusing on one or more of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. Students who successfully fulfill the following requirements will have this designation noted on their transcripts and will be recognized at Commencement.

Requirements:

1. Four years of World Language study or through highest level offered
2. Grade 11 Global Perspectives Class (one trimester minor)
3. Participation on a Global Education Journey at the end of Junior Year
4. Senior Project with a global focus on one (or more) of the U.N. Sustainable Development Goals
5. One of the Following:
 - Host an international student
 - Participate in a pre-approved Language Immersion Experience abroad in a non-English speaking nation
 - Participate in 2 Model UN Conferences (including HAMUN)
 - 15 hours of service with an organization addressing one, or more, of the U.N. Sustainable Development Goals. Language speakers, consider working with a non-English speaking organization. Please note, these hours are in addition to your graduation requirement.
