

Eric A. Gutierrez

Eric A. Gutierrez is originally from Edcouch, Texas where he attended Edcouch-Elsa High School. He proudly served in the U.S. Navy during which time he earned his Bachelor of Science in Electrical Technology from Thomas Edison State University.

Mr. Gutierrez began his educational career as a science teacher at Edcouch-Elsa and then Mission High schools. During his time as a science teacher, Mr. Gutierrez was a strong advocate for his students' exploration of STEM education including guiding students through the Texas High School Aerospace Scholars learning experience.

Earning his Master of Educational Administration from the University of Texas Pan American (now UTRGV), Mr. Gutierrez is now in his eighth year serving as a high school administrator. Mr. Gutierrez's educational philosophy consists of: a belief in preparation and seizing opportunities, a principle that high-quality education is key in preparing our youth to become successful and productive citizens, and a mindset that a nurturing, safe, and yet challenging educational experience will prepare students for the opportunities ahead.

As a South Texas I.S.D. administrator, Mr. Gutierrez's vision is to ensure district personnel and resources are geared towards the delivery of rigorous and relevant curriculum with an emphasis on depth and complexity which meet the high academic/emotional intelligence needs of South Texas ISD's students while nurturing educational partnerships that allow schools and the business sector to join efforts to improve South Texas ISD students' college and career opportunities.
