About the American School of Guatemala/Colegio Americano de Guatemala (CAG)

The American School of Guatemala was founded in 1945 and is an independent, non profit, non-denominational, college preparatory institution that offers a rigorous academic program modeled after the best educational practices and methodologies of the United States of America. It is founded on the principles of a co-educational, bi-cultural (Guatemala-United States), bilingual (Spanish-English) program and is fully accredited in the U.S. by the New England Association of Colleges and Schools and recognized by the Guatemalan Ministry of Education as a Laboratory School. Respect for religious, political, social and cultural diversity is a fundamental part of the school's identity. With enrollment of approximately 1,630 students, the American School of Guatemala focuses on continuity in a P-12 one school model, committed to student-centered learning and community connectedness.

Overview of the Position

In its effort to be a leader in science education, CAG works to promote a robust science education experience through the articulation and implementation of the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS). As such, a middle school science teacher works to build on the Elementary science program and align the science program from the Middle School to the High School, offering an introduction to science education in preparation for the rigors and demands of the CAG high school program.

The teacher should have experience with the NGSS and be equipped to teach a hands-on, inquiry based competitive science class, providing students with the opportunities to investigate the theories and ideas associated with the sciences. The teacher is to support the development of student skills in research, investigation, inquiry, inference, observation, critical thinking through the scientific process. The teacher will deliver an integrated science curriculum across the disciplines of earth, life, and physical science.

CAG Middle School follows the philosophy of the Association for Middle Level Education (AMLE) and the tenants of The Successful Middle School: This We Believe, recognizing that Middle School students have special and unique needs that need to be addressed by teachers that fully understand this stage in the life of young adolescents. Teachers work in grade level and department teams and promote communication among the members of the teams as well as subject integration.

CORE VALUES OF THE AMERICAN SCHOOL OF GUATEMALA'S PROFESSIONAL LEARNING COMMUNITY

1. Protect and project the established mission of the school.

2. Provide student centered instruction commensurate with class needs and individual abilities; aspire to provide such in a manner that students will want to learn.

3. Pursue school-wide goals of healthy socialization and self-concept by supporting all students in each of their school-related activities. At all times, in and out of school, be clear in the limitations of this support by avoiding in fact or appearance inappropriate fraternization.

4. Collaborate to the maximum extent possible with colleagues, establish and maintain a healthy, cooperative working relationship with other CAG staff. Aspire to practice same in the spirit of collegiality and common cause.

5. Establish and maintain a system of education accountability approved by the General Director and Section Principals.

6. Establish and maintain healthy communication with parents and students; avail yourself of their concerns to the maximum extent possible without compromising the collective judgment or authority of the school.

7. Provide all relevant and required information and reports to the General Director and Section Principals in a competent and timely manner.

8. Attend staff and faculty meetings and take initiative to acquire a sound knowledge base in the theory and practice of behavior management, content area expertise, and topics that advance the interests of CAG's learning community.

9. Manage personal and professional differences in such a way that presents a coherent administrative and organizational climate to parents, students, staff, and board. Acknowledge and seek to resolve differences in a respectful and discreet manner.

10. Take initiative to investigate, understand and solve problems at the most immediate effective organizational level. Keep the General Director, Section Principals and others informed of sensitive information on a proactive and need-to-know basis.
