- Each prep academy has a limited number of spots for the 2021-2022 school year, and will open to a lottery when enrollment packets exceed that number. If your child is admitted to one of the AAV academies, he/she will be withdrawn from consideration for the other academies.
- Academies of the Antelope Valley schools will not discriminate against students on the basis of disability in any of its programs, services, and activities, including admission. AAV Schools offer the full range of special education and related aids and services based on the individual needs of an enrolled student with a disability, and will inquire about a student's disability, if any, and related documentation only after the student has been accepted for enrollment and for the purpose of providing the student a free, appropriate, public education (FAPE) and an equal opportunity to participate in AAV Schools services, programs, and activities.
- For information regarding the District's efforts to comply with Section 504 and Title II, including responding to complaints of disability discrimination, please contact the office of Ms. Shandelyn Williams, Assistant Superintendent of Student Services at 661-729-2321.

Academies of the Antelope Valley Enrollment Packet

I understand that Academies of the Antelope Valley is a public charter school, which can only accept one hundred (100) students for seventh grade and one hundred (100) students for eighth grade per prep academy. If more than one hundred (100) students submit complete enrollment packets within the enrollment period to attend an AAV Prep Academy, a lottery will be held by the Antelope Valley Union High School District to select students for admittance.

- Academies of the Antelope Valley schools will not discriminate against students on the basis of disability in any of its programs, services, and activities, including admission.
- AAV Schools offer the full range of special education and related aids and services based on the individual needs of an enrolled student with a disability, and will inquire about a student's disability, if any, and related documentation only after the student has been accepted for enrollment and for the purpose of providing the student a free, appropriate, public education (FAPE) and an equal opportunity to participate in AAV Schools services, programs, and activities.
