The cat and the monkey

By Eileen Bremer

Once upon a time there was a cat. She was as beautiful as a new formed rainbow. Her eyes blue as the sky, and fur as white as clouds. Her owner was very fond of her. She never let the cat outside ever. Until her owner brought her on a walk. She saw flowers and trees, people, and dogs. Terrifying dogs! One barked at her, but only until it ran away from a screeching noise. The cat turned around and came face to face with a dog catcher. He ran after the dog, but the dog got away. Finally, they reached the diner. The cat ate macaroons and drank the nicest milk she had ever tasted. When they left it was sunny and the sun shined down right on a silhouette in a tree. The cat climbed up the tree and found it was a monkey! The monkey asked who she was, and she said, "Why me? I'm Tiddalai." She said in the fanciest voice the monkey had ever heard. The monkey nodded and said in a soft voice, "I'm Sam and I am a monkey, as you can see," He said very shyly and then scampered away. Why what a nice name, Thought the cat. Then she jumped down from the tree and went back to her owner. The next morning earlier than her owner. She went on a walk through her fancy neighborhood. Though she did not know, but after a few minutes she had ventured out of her neighborhood. She went into an alley when she heard a voice much like the monkey's she had met the day before. He was being caught in a net and was yelping for help. The cat gnawed through the net and saved the monkey. They promised to encounter each other another day or time and went back to their homes.

Chapter 1 The Wonderful Morning

By: Ty Wilson (3rd Grade)

Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep! Slam! Ty stopped his alarm for seven o'clock AM on his clock, then hopped out of bed and changed into his school uniform. He slipped a sweatshirt on top of it so his dad wouldn't see it. Bob, Ty's brother, also changed into his uniform for school with a sweatshirt on top of it so his dad wouldn't see it.

They both came downstairs and dad asked Ty and Bob, "Do you know if you are doing something fun at school today?"

"Yeah, our teacher Age...I mean Will Jones told us we were celebrating the fifth day of school." answered Ty.

"Oh, that sounds fun. Do you need to take anything to school?"

"No. But today is also when we start to bring snacks to school and I'm bringing a pack of sour patch kids and Bob is also bringing a pack of sour patch kids."

"Ok. Oh! Look at the time, it's 8:30, we better get in the car to go to school."

"Yay, I can't wait for the celebration!" said Bob, really excited.

"We don't know what we are going to do for the celebration but we know that it's going to be very fun." said Ty as they got into the car.

The Life Of A Snowman

By: Jared Jackman

Have you ever wondered if the snowmen that you make come alive and have a party on Christmas? Well, this is what I think would happen when I go inside my house on Christmas eve. “Finally, that kid is gone, he gave me these ridiculous hands.” With that the sticks that were the snowmen “arms” popped off and out came snow arms. “ahhh finally those were itching me. I better get on my suit if I want to go to the party or else, I won't be on time to defeat those losers at who can eat the most snow cones in a minute. Some people don't want to do it because they say that we are eating ourselves. Why would we eat our self?” Then he got in a snow taxi with a snowman driving it. “Bring me to the party at 51 main street.” The taxi driver said “sure as long as I get 5 snow cones from the party” “Sure” the snowman said. He drove to the party and got out. He walked to the party when suddenly his snow phone started buzzing. “I better get this” “There is trouble at 76th main street can you get it” the phone said. “Ya I am at 51st main street. Let's go in the bat mobile. Wait I don't have that Bruce Wayne has it right now. I will just have to run there. Na na na na na na na bat-- wait that is batman to, I watch too much bat man movies. Well tecneckly the boy who made me watch's to much batman but I peek thru the window and watch it. Okay okay I am The super- nope super man I am The Joke- That is the joker okay The toilet paper man!!!!!! That is it. The toilet paper will help me fly there Here---- We----- Go.

Just Right

By Leila Bell in C. Johnson's class, 5th grade.

Have you ever wondered what happens after happily ever after? I did, until I met Goldie. Goldie is my oldest friend. She grew up with a family of three bears. It sounds kind of strange but (do not tell anyone this) she is my favorite friend. Sorry, let me back up a little bit.

Goldie and I were next door neighbors on our family's farms. My family and I had just moved in. Goldie and her mom came to bring us some "welcome" cookies. Right at that moment I knew, and I know Goldie did too that we would be best friends. After that Goldie and I literally lived together. Well, that is until 'the incident'. What is 'the incident' you ask? Let me explain. Me and my family had gone on vacation, so Goldie got bored and went into the woods.

She found a little cottage with the door open. So, Goldie, being Goldie, decided to go in and check it out. Inside she found a table with three bowls of porridge on it. Guess what she did? Yep. She tried them. The first bowl was the largest. She said it was super cold. She tried the middle one. It was too hot. She tried the last one hoping it was just right and it was! She finished the whole bowl in sixty seconds. Stuffed to the nubbins, she went into the living room and found three chairs. The largest one was too hard. The next one was too soft. The last one was just right! She sat in the chair. Uh oh.... it broke! She probably thought that whoever this house belonged to; they had a kid who was around her age. Of course, Goldie did not know how to fix a chair so she went upstairs hoping nobody would notice the broken chair. After all this eating porridge and breaking chairs, Goldie was getting tired. She hoped there would be beds up there. On the second floor, she found three beds. As your probably guessing, one of the beds is going to be big and hard, the next one is going to be medium size and too soft, and the last one is going to be just right? If you guessed that you are correct! She fell asleep in the last one for a while.

When she woke up, three bears were staring down at her. One tall one, probably the papa, one medium-sized, the mama, and one small one, who looked about Goldie's age.

The mama said, "Don't be afraid dear."

"Who me?" Goldie said, "I am not afraid!"

"What is your name young lady, and why did you break into our house?" said the papa.

"My name is Goldilocks, and I didn't break into your house! The door was open!"

"Mama! I specifically told you to close the door!" said the papa.

"No papa don't blame mama; it was me I forgot to close the door." said the small bear.

"Thank you dear. Well, we better get this young girl home."

"You can call me Goldie, but can I come back tomorrow?"

"Sure, dear you are welcome here anytime,"

The papa started "But..."

"Bye Goldie, see you tomorrow!" The young bear called out.

Sadly, a few weeks after Goldie and bear met, Goldie's mother passed away and her dad had died when she was only three years old. Goldie moved in with the bear family. Me and my family got back a few days before the funeral. But instead of me always being there for Goldie, bear was. What me? No way! I am not jealous at all! You are crazy. I love that backstabbing, friend stealer bear! Sort of. Okay, maybe you are right. Anyway, we were 8- and 9-year-olds then. Now we are teenagers and I have grown to love bear (as a friend, obviously). Goldie has grown up to be very responsible and is an even better friend. People wrote a book about her and the bear family called "Goldilocks and the three bears". You have probably heard about it. She and the bear family are famous, and I would be too, but the author could not bother to add me in it. They call it a fairy tale, whatever that means.

ZOMBIE APOCALYPES

By Lidia Larson

Chapter 1: Introduction

Once upon a time not too long ago there was a school called Kays Creek Elementary. There was a team, a team of zombie fighters. Lidia, Gigi, Avery, Tom, McCall, and Kate. Me and Gigi could hack any computer in the world. Avery started karate when she was in first grade and was very good at it. McCall was very flexible so she could easily bend over and kick a zombie. Tom was a very, very good archer. Oh, and our leader Mrs. Miles she was our teacher and had a secret room that only zombie fighters could get in.

Chapter 2: The invasion

One day Mrs. Miles' class was watching a video with cats I don't know why we just were then, the TV was putting everybody in a trance. The thing that was weird is that me, Gigi, Kate, Avery, McCall, Tom, and Mrs. Miles were out of the classroom we knew that the zombie army was going to be here in a matter of minutes. Also, Savanna was out there with us, so I asked if she wanted to join us to kick some zombie butt and she said yes so, she's with us now. Suddenly the power turned off. It was pitch black for about a minute then it came back on and Tom was gone! The lights went off again, then McCall was gone. We all knew who's work this was. It was the zombie army. We knew what we needed to do, we needed to go save McCall and Tom, so we geared up and we let Savanna borrow a staff, then we got up to save McCall and Tom.

Chapter 3: The plan

So, me and the crew went to the classroom to think about a plan. Before we all went in, I turned off the TV, but everyone was still in a trance. After everyone that was not in a trance came in, we locked all the doors and move everyone that was in a trance over to the side, then we barricaded the door with the chairs and tables. We planned to go in the vent to look for Tom and McCall. Then we hear pounding on the door we all knew it was go time so we got ready for battle. We put out fake us and hide our classmates until they wake up.

Chapter 4: finding Tom and McCall

We crawl until we make it to the vent in the gym we look down and see them placed in very weird chairs we also notice the zombie king Davis pacing back and forth. Then we see the zombie scientist he has a remote with a big red button on it then he hooks it up to Tom's chair and he turns into a zombie!!!! And before he can turn McCall into a zombie, Avery sneezes and Davis looks up we all knew we were in trouble. Just then the vent brakes and we are falling to the ground. The zombie scientist commands Tom to attack us, we did not want to hurt our friend, so we had to dodge his attacks. We tell Gigi to stay and stall Tom. As we passed Tom, we notice that Davis and the scientist are gone but McCall is not. After we save McCall, we tie Tom to a nearby post and will deal with him later.

Chapter 5: finding Davis

We walk into the office and look at the cameras, but the zombie knew we would, so they covered the cams with sticky goo. We need to find Davis, so we split up in groups to find him. Me, Gigi, Kate, and McCall go look for him. We are walking down the blue cog and see that every class is in a trance so we turn off all the TV's so they will snap out of it. Just then as we are turning off the last TV, we see the zombies taking some students to the chairs. We run out of the class and save the students and as we are carrying them away to safety they wake up and we notice all the students in the classes we turn off the TV's are waking up. We run up the stairs to the green cog and our whole class is awake, so we give them all staffs and train them to fight zombies. We run to every cog and once we make it to the yellow cog, we see Davis with a group of zombies and he says "once we make them all zombies, we will take over Kaysville then Utah and then the USA and finally the world!!!!!" all the zombie's cheer at the plan and we run to find and warn the others before it's too late.

Chapter 6: the battle

We get all the people in the school together and get ready for battle then Gigi says "I know this may be scary, but we have to save everything we love. We must save today so we can live tomorrow." the crowd cheers and we explain our plan to everyone. We have Mrs. Miles and McCall train all the students so we can win. We hear on the intercom Davis saying "be prepared for the battle of a life time" then it stops we all get ready then we hear the footsteps of zombies running towards us from every direction and we execute the plan we have the 3rd and 4th graders protect the stairs and we have the 5th, 1st and 2nd graders protect the main entry and the 6th graders go in the vents for a sneak attack.

Chapter 7: The victory

We all charge at the zombies and battle but since they are already dead, we can't kill them so our attacks are useless. Me and Gigi break the chairs that turn you into a zombie then we find a way to turn Tom back. We run over to Tom and change him back. After an hour of fighting everyone starts yelling "wake up, wake up, wake up, wake up" I had no idea what was going on then I wake up and see my mom at my door yelling at me to wake up and I realize it was just a dream and because of that dream I was late for school but at least there was no zombies. THE END!!!

The Angel Next-door

Written by: Ruby Heath

Teacher: Mrs. Campbell

Once upon a time there was an angel named Halo that didn't like her job as a conscience for Maleficent because she never listened to Her.

Halo asked her boss, "Can I change my person to Mickey Mouse?"

Her boss shouted, "NO!"

"Then can I have a year off?" asked Halo.

"Of course, but you have to be at Cherry Hill," said her boss. She went to Cherry Hill and looked at the water slide and the games and her FAVORITE part THE FOOD she went on all the rides and ate all the food she could eat. Then she tried to leave to go to another place but there was a force field around it so she couldn't leave she had to sleep there, eat there, and be there for a year unless she went back to Maleficent who she hated.

Why won't she listen to me, she thought. She knew she had to go back to Maleficent or she had to repeat the day she thought about it all night. Then she had an idea.

First, Halo called her boss and exclaimed, "we're back in business baby!"

Then, she found devil clothes and put them on. Last, she went to be Maleficent's conscience.

By Nate Flannery

Once, three people named Nate, Ben, and Jeff were going camping. They had a very good experience at camping. They had a great time as they camped, fished, and had lots of fun. Later, it started raining. The three hadn't built a shelter yet. They needed some kind of shelter, and quickly because the rain was bad. It was soaking things and they had a risk of hypothermia. They finally managed to build a shelter. They also had extra clothes in a waterproof, well-sealed bag. They also had another waterproof, well-sealed bag with coats in it. They got the clothes on, then it started snowing. They brought their phones, so Jeff said it was going to snow six feet. So they all got snow pants on and got ready. They did it in time, too. The snow was piling deep, and they luckily had duct tape and ski masks. So they duct taped their gloves to their coats and duct taped their boots to their snow pants. They also put ski masks on, so then they were ready. They also had a better chance for shelter, they also packed a shovel. So they dug a snow cave, in the deep snow. They used some wood and leaves and plants for a cover for the cave. They poked a small hole for ventilation in top, and they lived in that cave until they could have a chance to get out and do some other things. It turned out that it actually snowed 20 feet, so Nate had lots of snow to scrape off the bottom of the cave and keep busy with. Jeff packed 100 phone batteries which were fully charged that you would plug into your phone in the case of a power outage, but except they were in a completely different condition: there wasn't even any power to plug the phones into. So, they had that many batteries. Jeff also packed 1000 pairs of hand warmers, and he would put one pair into the backpack which was activated at a time so that the batteries wouldn't get too cold. They also used some for their feet and hands. They had to live in their. Luckily, Jeff packed tons of food. Some of it was meat, and it was already cooked. That was a good choice! Even if they found some dry wood (or they dried it off) and piled it off the ground then lit it, it would melt the shelter. They needed the shelter greatly. Later, the snow melted and it melted completely. They all took off their duct tape and gear, then the drove home in the car. They started when fall started, and ended on December 27.

The Indian boy and the Owl

It was the day after Thanksgiving and there was a young Indian boy that was running from the Bad man that were trying to get the boy and get the food back, that he stole. They were catching up and he needed to get away and then he found a tree and then he climbed into and tree and the men cached up to him and they could not find him and then the Indian Boy threw a Pin cone at one of the men and the men was mad so he told his boss that the boy was some ware in the forest and then it started to rain, and the Indian boy could not go out in the rain at night that was a rule in his tribe so he stated in the tree and then when he was about to go to sleep he heard an owl take and say are you ok he said to the Indian boy? What how can you take? I thought all owls could take. No said the Indian boy. All right then I Guess I'm the only owl that can take. What's your name young Indian boy? It is Jake. All right Jake IAm owl I know that you think that is a weird name, but I like it. I know the way back to your tribe I can take you their tomorrow would that be ok. Ya, I guess if you can take me back to my tribe. Then it is settled I shall take you back to your tribe tomorrow. The next day Owl kept his promise to Jake and would take him back to his tribe. On their way to the Jake's tribe out if no where there were two men that came out and took the Jake and ran off laughing and Owl was Mad.

Chapter 2
The revenge.

The next day owl planned and was ready to trap all the men with their leader. Then he bobby trapped all around the town and then the next day on thanksgiving the owl woke up a man and the man woke up the other men and they chanced after him and the traps make them fall to sleep and then he went for the leader and the leader tried to shoot him and then he grabbed his horse and started to chase him and then he started to run and then owl did a long curve and the leader fell into the horse poop and got all dirty and the owl laughed and the horse continued to chase after the owl and then it opened its mouth and ate the owl the Indian boy screamed in sadness, but all the sudden the horse's mouth opened an the owl shot out of it and pushed it into a cage and then he locked it up. Then he saved the Indian boy and then the Indian boy thank him and then he they are surrounded and then the owl flew and did a backflip in the air and distracted all of them while the Indian boy grabbed some stuff then he called them, and the owl came to him and the men looked at him and then he dumped all their guns and ran they followed him and the owl grabbed some cannon balls and dropped them and all the men fell onto each other and some got pushed into the horse poop and fell on the leader and the Indian boy and the owl ran away to there tribe and the men never bothered them again. And they lived happily ever after.

The Tale of Valentine's Day

By: Bridger Hart

This tale starts on the day before Valentine's day. The day of love and romance. And remember this is a tale.

This tale starts out like this. "1+1=1." Said the student "NO!" Said the teacher. 1+1=2. "Okay 1+1=3." Said the student. "No, when will you ever get it right! Try again." Said the teacher. "Okay. 1+1= (teacher interrupts whispering) "please say 2 please say 2." Student exclaims "Stop interrupting me!" "1+1=2!" said the student. "Okay." the teacher said. "Tomorrow is Valentine's day. Class dismissed." Said the teacher. "And remember to bring your Valentine's." Said the teacher.

The next day...

"Did you remember your Valentine's." Said the teacher. "No." Said the students. "I can run back I left them at the front door." Said the student. The teacher said, "Okay but I have to go with you." The student said, "Okay, my house is at 1221 Moonlight Ave." The Teacher said. "okay we have 2 minutes until the Valentine's day party."

They go to the students and they head back to school and have a Valentine's day party. See what happens next in Valentine's Day Returns.

The boy

Chapter 1

By: Jacob Fulks

Once, there was a little boy who loves the army and one day when he was 24, he just got married and he and he had to tell his wife within a week to tell her that he is going to the army and they then he had to tell her so the next day.

"Hey um I have to tell you something you will be afraid of, so I am going to go in the army for 5 years," said Thomas.

"Why did you not tell me before we are going to get married Thomas?" said Anne.

"Hey, I am going to leave in the next 6 days, so let's have as much fun as possible." said Thomas.

"OK" Anne said

And 6 days have passed by them had so much fun, and they will always be together no matter how far apart they are.

"Well, this is it I will see you in 5 years sweetie well I got to get going bye" Thomas said.

"Hey so I am Thomas I am a new solder in the army," said Thomas.

"Well, well, well you Thomas, right?" said the captain.

"Ya, I am Thomas," said Thomas.

"All right well this is Tommy," said captain.

"Hey" Tommy said

"And Jake" captain said.

"Hi" Jake said

"And me the captain," said captain.

"Well, hi everyone I am Thomas, and I am new," said Thomas.

The awakening

Chapter 2

BEEP, BEEP, BEEP, BEEP

"What is it Captain?" Said Jake.

"I don't know, it is a person I know that?" said Captain.

"Your stupid, Ya it's a person were you expecting an alien, or what!"
said Jake loudly.

"Hey who are you, you're not a post to be here at all," said the captain.

"I am Adolf Hitler," said the man.

"You're the man who," said Thomas.

"yes, I am," said Adolf.

"Call the army now," said the Captain.

"got it sir," said Tommy.

"No, you're not going anywhere I have a spy who is watching you right now and could kill you all in less than three seconds right now," said Adolf.

"Hey, neither mind," said the Captain.

"Got it sir," said Tommy.

"What is the problem sir," said Tommy.

"Him" said Tommy.

"OK what do you want to tell us Adolf why did you come," said Thomas.

"We are going to have a fight and you will do it or not," said Adolf.

"When?" asked Jake.

"Now" said Adolf.

"EVERYONE GET INSIDE NOW GO!!!!" exclaimed the captain.

"GET THE TANKS OUT NOW" screamed Thomas.

A gunshot goes off.

"JAKE!!!!" SCREAMED Tommy

"Get back here soldier he is gone," said Captain.

"We need to get him out of here," Said Thomas.

"I have an idea, let's gather around, ok so we'll sneak up to their base and make an ambush and then when he comes out then we will shoot him" Captain said

"Ok like we planned it, NOW!!!" said the captain.

"Now!!" one of the soldiers said.

3 gunshots go off and each one of them dies slowly.

"You thought that you could win the war, not so fast," said Adolf.

"You thought," said Thomas.

BOOM, BOOM the tank goes off and hits Hitler.

"You thought" slowly says Thomas.

"We are here today for the end of world WW2 and these brave men did it and won the war they were best friends and will always be best friends their names were Tommy, Luis, Jake, and last of all Thomas they were so brave in the war that they won it and I hope that they will always be remembered in the future and will be loved forever I would like to close this off and be honored to these women I am so sorry for your loss.
