Small Classes Big Support System

It's the LITTLE things that make a BIG difference

There's something for everyone at Stuart Hall School! Our engaging day program for grades 4-12, as well as our five and seven day boarding options for grades 8-12, offer students a stimulating and supportive academic experience. With a student:teacher ratio of 8:1 and an adaptable curriculum, our faculty are able to challenge students while providing personalized instruction in a nurturing environment. Our day and boarding students thrive in a diverse, multicultural school community, and enjoy co-curricular and extra-curricular activities together, both on and off campus.

Learning for Mastery

Transformative Teaching for Successful Living

Stuart Hall Graduates head off to college ready to flourish in a rigorous academic environment. They are equipped with self-awareness, self-motivation, self-direction and independence. Taking ownership of learning, both in and out of the classroom, STU students master key skills by applying classroom knowledge to solving real world problems. These skills are transferable toward success in career and personal life.

At Stuart Hall, learning doesn't end with the academic day. Robust afternoon co-curricular offerings in athletics, arts, music, theatre and even outdoor education take advantage of our amazing natural resources and talented local arts community.

Mastering lifelong skills that you'll really use...

...beyond the CLASSROOM

STAUNTON IS OUR CAMPUS

When classes aren't tied to textbooks, any situation can be a chance for learning. Combine this way of thinking with our location in downtown Staunton, and the opportunities are endless. Students might help the Woodrow Wilson Presidential Library complete market research for a statistics class. A civics class might decide to design a "Get Out the Vote" campaign for the upcoming city council election. Our partnerships with local organizations enable our students to develop a far deeper understanding of the concepts involved and the skills needed, and have a lot of fun too. When the school day is over, students can head downtown together to a favorite coffee shop or restaurant to explore independence in a safe small town,

"I think this gives you a sense of how this actually affects people in the world, not like looking at a text book."

Arts for Exploration

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

At Stuart Hall, artistic expression doesn't end with the academic day. Complementing our robust for-credit art and music curriculum are a wide variety of afternoon co-curricular art, music, and theater offerings. Our unique location in an artistic community allows us to take advantage of partnerships with local organizations that offer educational and performance opportunities outside the confines of campus.

Whether compiling a portfolio for college or simply performing for fun, arts at STU develop self-confidence, perseverance, and analytical skills that transfer into all areas of college, career and life.

"The thing I like about art at Stuart Hall is there are no limits, no boundaries..."

Activities for Life

Interscholastic, Intramurals & Outdoor Adventure

Stuart Hall's well-being emphasis focuses on instilling a lifelong love of activity and fitness that builds self-confidence in both physical abilities and the freedom to experiment. When the class day ends, kids can head to the gym, athletic field, golf course, tennis court or mountain trail. Whether a serious athlete who thrives on competition or an amateur who plays for camaraderie or fun, students have an array of choices each season.

Interscholastic sports include Cross Country, Volleyball, Basketball, Soccer, Tennis, Golf and eSports. Intramural activities, including yoga, weight-lifting, disc sports, and mountain biking. All are designed to teach perseverance, strategy, collaboration and team work.

"As someone who never participated in sports before STU, the intramural offerings are super exciting because they make it less intimidating to experiment."

COMMUNITY LIFE

There's more to the school day than core subjects, and activities and learning don't end at 3:30 p.m. Day and boarding students thrive in a diverse, multicultural school community, and enjoy co-curricular and extra-curricular activities together, both on and off campus. Our younger students enjoy participating in a variety of short-term after school clubs that connect them to our older students.

"My favorite things about being a student at STU are the wonderful teachers we have here and the close knit community they are able to create within their classes"

Sophia S. C'22

24/7 STU FAMILY

It is notable that many of our faculty and staff live on our beautiful campus, providing an extra layer of support for both boarding and day students. Parents can have peace of mind knowing that their child is well taken care of at all times.

...beyond your COMFORT ZONE

TRY SOMETHING NEW

Maybe you were always interested in learning chess but didn't have someone to teach you. Maybe you've never heard of paper modeling but are willing to give it a try (you should, it's pretty fun). Boarding school offers the chance, and the push, to try something new.

FACE A FEAR

Stuart Hall's inclusive, supportive community offers students the space to face their fears. Whether it's tackling public speaking, trying a new sport, or learning to live with someone else with the help of a roommate, our students gain a strong foundation for personal, academic and professional success.

MAKE MEMORIES

Many of our teachers have commented that one of the best parts of their job is to see the look on a student's face when they've tried something new and not only liked it, but loved it. From a hike to the top of Humpback Rock, to participation in an economics fair at James Madison University, these are the kinds of learning experiences that make lasting memories.

GRADUATION

THE NEXT STEP

Whatever our students decide to do once they leave Stuart Hall, they'll be ready. Our graduates always comment that they found their first semester of college easy thanks to their time at STU. They know how to communicate with their classmates and professors and how to collaborate with those from diverse backgrounds. They understand the responsibility that comes with independence. Armed with the STU Grad Goals of WELL-BEING, CITIZENSHIP, COMMUNICATION, COLLABORATION, CRITICAL THINKING, and CREATIVITY, they'll be ready to make an impact on the world.

ONCE A DRAGON, ALWAYS A DRAGON

Graduation isn't the end. It's the beginning of the Stuart Hall alumnae/i experience. From Young Alum Panels to Alumni Weekend, there are many opportunities to stay connected and involved in Stuart Hall.
