

My Lockdown

Hi there, I am here to report the first lockdown we went into and how it changed my life negatively and positively.

When I heard there was going to be a lockdown, I was devastated my life had literally been flipped upside down and taken away. The thoughts ran around my head. Would I be able to go on holiday? When would I see my friends next? I have not had a family member leave me so I understand I was not affected as lots of people were. However my fun was still taken away. All year around I had been looking forward to going on a holiday camp with my friends. It was cancelled.

However although there are all these negatives about lockdown, I still managed to go on holiday just not with friends. I also (even though it's super cringy) had some great family time. I remember going on walks with my family and seeing the wildlife that was blooming just outside our front door. I think I learnt instead of getting all annoyed about what I can't do, start to enjoy what I can still do.

I think the only way me and my family went through the lockdown all in one piece was giving each other peace and space. I tried to keep a routine everyday so I was productive.

We all were affected in some shape or form by the lockdown and coronavirus. This is how I made it through lockdown. What about you?
