Prairie View Metra Station Development

Initial discussions focused on potential new land uses and development relating to the Prairie View Metra Station, and the greater area around it. The Village of Buffalo Grove has hired a planning and design firm to conduct public meetings to hear from stakeholders (residents, business representatives, property owners and all other interested stakeholders) on what they envision for the future in this area. The project area includes residential and commercial properties, in addition to open space in the vicinity of the Prairie View Metra Station.

Discussions also focused on the future role of the train station and the area around it, and how it serves residents and businesses as well as the anticipated completion of the plan.
