- To prepare daily/weekly lesson plans reflecting a logical sequence in reaching the course objectives.
- To instruct students according to the design of the McLeod Innovation program.
- To use a variety of instructional strategies and materials that are effective in imparting knowledge and skills that meet the needs and abilities of the students.
- To create and maintain a safe, healthy, and positive learning environment in the classroom.
- To prepare, renew, and administer varied lesson plans and evaluations that fairly assess objectives and promote critical thinking skills.
- To report student progress on a weekly basis and punctually complete all interim and semester reports as requested by the Administration.
- Differentiate instruction to allow students with differing learning styles to access course content. Utilize classroom technology to engage students' learning.
- Collaborate with colleagues on Innovation curriculum, instruction, and assessments
- To participate in and attend faculty meetings, Back to School evenings, Professional Development sessions, award assemblies, faculty retreats, Commencement Ceremony, Parent-Teacher conferences, and other events as requested by the Administration.
- To effectively communicate the value of the Innovation Curriculum and how it impacts people and the world around us.

- To perform additional tasks such as perfecting.
- To assist the Academic Dean and Director of Innovation in the selection of textbooks and course materials.
- To exemplify and practice the role of a life-long learner by staying abreast with the latest in-field technological and educational practices, in order to deliver the best education possible to the students.

The teacher at Fairfield College Preparatory School must be a qualified professional who performs school duties in accordance with the philosophy and goals of Jesuit education. The Fairfield Prep faculty member:

- is committed to incorporating the Grad at Grad principles in the course objectives and daily lesson plans to prepare citizens to be “men for and with others”
- is a source of inspiration to students and a Christian witness worthy of imitation
- promotes teamwork, communication, consistency, quality, and pride in the educational development of the whole student
- is familiar with and upholds the Student and Faculty Handbooks
- fully understands the philosophy of Jesuit education and is committed to its apostolic purpose through personal example.
