- The Autism Center at Misericordia University is comprised of a number of programs for individuals with Autism Spectrum Disorder across the life-span.
- The programs are offered by highly trained and credentialed professionals, along with graduate and undergraduate students in programs that reside in the College of Health Sciences.
- A major goal of the Autism Center is to offer that highest quality services available, while endeavoring to establish services and programs based on community needs and to fill gaps in care.
- The Autism Collaborative Centers of Excellence (ACCE) hub here on Misericordia University's campus is designed to connect people with Autism Spectrum Disorders, along with their families, with services and supports in the region.
- The programs established at the Autism Center include; Autism for Lifelong Learning (ALL), Transition Services, Transition to Work Training, Professional Development for Education and Healthcare Providers, and community collaborations for many programs such as swimming, music lessons, sensory friendly haircutting, art classes and more!
