

You are a star because you make supper every night. You are a star because you love me very much because you drive me to school every day.

You are a star because you help me with my homework. You are a star because you love Jesus.

You are a star because you help me with my homework. You are a star because you love Jesus.

You are a star because you help me with my homework. You are a star because you love Jesus.

You are a star because you help me with my homework. You are a star because you love Jesus.