3/25/2021 16:28:06	Amy Wellman	Thank you for committing to getting all of our children back in school full time. Covid isn't going away and we need to learn to live with it while still educating our children. I am glad there is still an option for families who are not comfortable with your decision to remain remote this year. However, I do not think remote should be an option for next year. It's very taxing on the teacher, the in person students and the remote student (at least it was for mine) to learn this way. I am hopeful the district will contract out a remote option if it's necessary or if it's not, to allow those families to choose one of the many distance learning alternatives. Our students learn best in person and the difference I have seen in my own daughter going 5 days a week is incredible.
