

Interim Assessments

Measure students' readiness and growth

Cognia™, formerly AdvancED | Measured Progress, is more than a new name. Our company has expanded resources and expertise—resulting in ever improving and new resources for members of the Cognia network. Now we offer you Cognia Interim Assessments.

Used near the beginning, middle, and end of the school year, these assessments give you data about students' readiness for their new grade, and their progress toward success on grade-level expectations.

Monitor progress through the year

Get reliable information about grade-level readiness when students return to school. Cognia Interim Assessments offer three tests per year, so you can see where your students stand in the fall and how they're progressing as the year continues. Plus, the reports provide early insight on college readiness.

Cognia Interim Assessments bring you expertise from decades of success in large-scale and local student assessment solutions, with support from the same regional team that you work with for continuous improvement.

A low per-student cost and easy-to-use platform create a smooth transition for both teachers and students.

Cognia Interim Assessments at a glance

- Aligned to widely used college and career readiness standards (such as Common Core State Standards) for direct relation to your instruction
- Three tests per year available in reading, language usage, and mathematics for grades 3–8
- Immediate reporting for instructional impact
- Two sections in each test; flexible administration in one or two sittings
- Online delivery system with outstanding dependability and technical support
- Reports include an overall scale score on the growth scale and an overall achievement level, demonstrating students' progress
- Subscore achievement levels indicate students' particular strengths and areas for improvement in each subject area
- Global perspective through content review by both U.S. and international educators

For more information, contact customer care@cognia.org
cognia.org · +1.678.392.2285