About The Plays

These plays were written as comedic parodies for young performers in the middle grades. Woman's World debuted in 2013 at the Cofrin Theatre in Gainesville. Oklahoma Shrew was written to teach young actors about Shakespeare with a funny mash up of Taming of the Shrew with the classic Rodgers & Hammerstein musical, Oklahoma! This award-winning script features references to 5 different Shakespearean plays and was selected to mainstage at the National Junior Thespian Festival for it's debut in 2010. Appropriate musical numbers were added to these Arts Week performances to include singing and choreography in the experience for our TVS middle school theatre students. Our middle school students working in the front of house and backstage for both shows helped create the set, costumes, and makeup, and our student directors helped block the show, keeping detailed notes on all the blocking and choreography during class rehearsals.

About The Play

No curtain. No scenery. These are the first words written, the opening stage directions of Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize winning play, "Our Town". Since its debut in 1938 and considered THE classic of the American theatre, "Our Town" has also gained international renown and been translated into over 80 languages. Every minute of every day, somewhere in the world "Our Town" is being performed. Like Shakespeare's plays, Wilder's timeless classic continues to thrive and be reimagined for new audiences. In fact, TVS was lucky to acquire the rights, because when Broadway fully reopens in the fall, "Our Town" is set to be revived yet again to celebrate. The actors must also pantomime their props and actions, which creates additional challenges. For our production, we followed more modern adaptations of the play with flexible casting. Our TVS theatre students are excited to take on the challenge of this amazing work and present it as part of Arts Week. We hope you enjoy your stay in Grover's Corners.
