

Adam Parks, Class of 2024

Change is inevitable; a leader is someone who takes action to make that change for the better. As a member of the committee representing the class of 2024, I promise to uphold the values of Daniel Hand, our community, and especially those of my companions who I will share these halls with for the next three years. I plan to represent Daniel Hand in a way that supports the district's vision statement with a commitment to putting ideas into action, communication and collaboration, approaching learning with effort and persistence, and making ethical and responsible actions. I will represent the community by honoring the history and the "tiger pride" that is rooted deeply in the families of Madison. I plan to represent the class of 2024 with the mindset of change; my dedication, effort, and the ability to collaborate will be a catalyst for innovation and motivation.
