Mr. John Taormina from P.J. Dick, Inc. addressed the Board and presented a review of the High School Feasibility Study completed by VEBH Architects earlier this school year.

HHS Feasibility
 Study Review
 Presentation – P.J.
 Dick, Inc.

Mr. Taormina began his report with a brief summary of his professional experience along with the other professionals of P.J. Dick who worked on this review. He noted that he has over 35 years in the construction field, with the vast majority of those years working for P.J. Dick in construction management. He indicated the other professionals have decades of experience and knowledge as well. Mr. Taormina stated that as members of P.J. Dick this team of professionals has worked on over 50 educational facility projects with a combined worth of over a billion dollars. He noted it was this experience in the construction field that he and his team brought when reviewing the High School Feasibility Study.

Mr. Taormina stated to perform the review of the study, he had visited the high school campus on three separate occasions. Mr. Taormina noted the first visit included touring the high school to perform measurements and review areas first hand. The next site visit he and an affiliate returned to meet with Mr. Robert Evans, Head of HVAC for tour and list of mechanical work required. Lastly, he and his associates met with District Administration and VEBH Architects. Mr. Taormina reported that he was impressed with the Feasibility Study and how well it was completed. He noted the District should be pleased with the accurate and informative report. Mr. Taormina stated the review confirms that overall the report holds accurate project projection costs. However, Mr. Taormina indicated the costs outlined in the study were associated with the project being implemented in the immediate future. He stated the High School Project is far too conceptual at this stage, and therefore he is comfortable recommending a $3.5 million variance in the proposed project costs. Mr. Taormina stated that of this $3.5 million variance much of it would be absorbed in the actual finished design and scope of work. He noted that VEBH allotted for a design contingency of 8%. Mr. Taormina stated that P.J. Dick recommends a contingency of 10% and to include an escalation contingency of 5% which was not included in the Feasibility Study. The escalation contingency is necessary for a project not being executed in the immediate future. Mr. Taormina stated that he looked at the Feasibility Study from the actual contractor aspect where as VEBH completed the study from the architectural or design aspect.

findings and recommendations of the School Start Time Committee.

Committee Update

Dr. Loughead provided a brief review on how this committee was initiated and why the school start time for students in the secondary level was so important. He referenced the research and presentation by Dr. Franzen who spoke at the High School back in January 2018. Dr. Franzen recommended later school start times due to the scientific evidence concerning students' health, safety and academic performance. Dr. Thornton highlighted some of the supporting scientific evidence and the additional medical and federal organizations who are in support of the later start times.

Dr. Removcik highlighted school districts statewide that already implemented a later start time. She summarized that the start times vary from an additional 15 minutes to approximately 1 hour. Dr. Removcik explained the overall consensus is that a later start time - even if it was only 15 minutes, would be of benefit to the students. She stated one school district who implemented change this year was the public school district of State College who extended their start time by 39 minutes.

Dr. Loughead and Mr. Kline outlined the three scenarios that were outlined by the Transfinder Study and the School Start Time Committee and the implications each scenario would have on transportation. Of the three options Mr. Kline stated option #3 appears to be the best for the District in regard to transportation. He noted option #3 involves flip-flopping the start times for the Middle School and High School and leaving the elementary start time as it currently is. Mr. Kline indicated this would allow for the District's existing transportation "windows" to remain in place and limit or eliminate the need for additional number of buses to complete the routes. Dr. Loughead summarized some additional obstacles such as the start and end times for A.W. Beattie as well as athletic and extracurricular events. Dr. Loughead indicated the committee will begin to look into these obstacles as the committee continues its research.

Public Comment

Dr. Drew Hall addressed the Board regarding the District's technology in regard to the Internet filters and the approval of app usage by teachers in their classrooms. Dr. Hall expressed his concern of the material he is able to look up on his technology device when performing various searches. Dr. Hall indicated the Internet Filters in place should prevent various images or stories to be accessed when his 8 year old is performing searches for school. He stated he had been in contact with Dr. McKaveney about the filters and in his opinion, the lack of their performance.

Technology Concerns – Effectiveness of Filters and App Access

Mr. Stein and Dr. Loughead addressed Dr. Hall stating technology is ever changing and evolving. As such while filters are effective - there is not a filter in place that will completely eliminate or prevent various images or stories from the hands of children. Dr. Loughead stated that as adults it is the responsibility of the faculty and parents to monitor and guide students in the searches performed on various devices.

Dr. Hall continued stating that he and his wife had concern over the use of various online resources such as apps and online curriculum options. Dr. Hall inquired if these resources were vetted in the same manner as regular text books. Dr. Hall singled out one particular app titled Epic, which provides access to online books. Dr. Hall stated his concern was the material covered in these books were far more mature than what should be shown to an eight year old. He cited examples including the personal life of President Trump. He did not feel this type of material should be available to a second grade student.

Dr. Loughead addressed Dr. Hall stating that all curriculum is written and is Board approved. He noted that the resources are vetted such as hard copy or online textbooks. He indicated that these resources whether in print or online must align to the written curriculum. However, additional or supplemental resources are not vetted in the same manner. He stated these include online apps or printed weekly readers. Dr. Loughead stated that these supplemental resources must also align with the text books and engagement of the students. While apps require approval – they are not vetted. He stated approval comes from building administration, department and grade level leaders and a
