Work Adjustment Training

Skills Training in Food Services

Sheltered Employment

Community-based Job Sampling

Supported Employment, which includes job development, placement, and coaching.

The Adult Lifestyle Planning Services (ALPS) program is provided for individuals with moderate to severe disabilities who do not necessarily have an immediate goal of paid employment. ALPS participants attend a full-day program that emphasizes the development of independent living skills and meaningful inclusion in community life. Approximately half of the ALPS program is provided in community settings, in which staff supervise participants in life skills, volunteer and recreational activities.

Community-based activities allow program participants to interact in the community in a productive manner, and include such programs as the Serve-a-Tray program, where ALPS participants deliver food to the elderly on a bi-weekly basis.
