

Apple laptops may be ordered via the two methods specified below. You will receive special educational pricing when ordering via the web store referenced below. Some stores may provide you with an educational discount when you show a student ID, but Apple does not seem to have a consistent policy about this in their stores so the easiest way to get the education discount is to use the custom web store.

---

Area Apple Stores

Apple Store,
The Westchester
125 Westchester Ave.
White Plains, NY 10601
(914) 428-1877

Apple Store, SoHo
103 Prince Street
New York, NY 10012
(212) 226-3126

Apple Store
5th and 58th
767 5th Ave.
New York, NY 10153
(212) 336-1440

Apple Store
356 Greenwich Ave.
Greenwich, CT 06830
(203) 302-6691

Online at the Apple Store for Education

(This is the preferred option as you will receive special education pricing and the laptop will be customized before it is sent to you.)

Enter the following URL into your web browser:

http://store.apple.com/us\_k12nonbts\_270040

We recommend the following laptops:

13 –inch MacBook Air $1329

(M1 chip, 8-core CPU/GPU, 16 GB Memory & 512 GB HD)

13 –inch MacBook Pro $1579

(M1 chip, 8-core CPU/GPU, 16 GB Memory & 512 GB HD)

Please purchase the AppleCare Protection Plan that extends the laptop's warranty to 3 years!

Each of these laptops are very light, the battery lasts a long time, and the hard drive has no moving parts, so they are much less likely to have any hard drive failure. While they don't have a disc drive, Apple sells external disc drives, and the IT dept. will have disc drives available for students to use when installing software.