RE: Occupational Health - Hepatitis B Vaccination

The Occupational Health and Safety Administration require employers to annually offer information and training regarding management of potential exposure to Blood Borne Pathogens in the workplace.

In the past this informational training program was presented by the school nurses during a school staff meeting. This year the presentation is being brought to you online. Please open the link below and view the 15 minute Blood Borne Pathogen training program, and answer the five question survey. The survey will serve as a receipt of your participation in this OSHA mandated training.
