

I went to the Doctor for my knee because I injured it. When I got to the Doctor they had to wait me but I don't know why. Then they took me in a room then a different guy came in. He was really funny he said something about school but I wasn't really paying any attention on that but I paid attention on the other things he said. We had to sit in the room for a while then they had to do an x-ray on my knee. It looked weird to me because there was this little bone I never knew that though. Then they gave me my brace and crutches it was hard trying not to fall. When I got home I fell asleep but of course my sister had to sneak behind my back to get the crutches but I caught her because she was so loud. Then I fell asleep again of course Saylor did it again.
