Covid-19 Isolation Instructions for Residential Students

1. What does it mean to isolate?

Isolation is used to separate people infected with the virus (those who are sick with COVID-19 and those with no symptoms) from people who are not infected. People who are in isolation should stay home until it's safe for them to be around others.

2. Why am I being asked to isolate?

Because you:

- Have been diagnosed with COVID-19, or
- Are waiting for test results, or
- Have cough, fever, or shortness of breath, or other symptoms of COVID-19

3. When can I come out of isolation?

- a. If you have symptoms AND are positive for Covid-19: You should isolate in the designated isolation space on campus, until you can answer “yes” to ALL three of the following questions:
 - i. Has it been at least 10 days since you first had symptoms?
 - ii. Has it been at least 24 hours with no fever without fever-reducing medication?
 - iii. Have your symptoms improved? (cough, shortness of breath, sore throat, etc...)
- b. If you tested positive for COVID-19 but do not have symptoms: You should isolate in the designated isolation space until 10 days have passed since your positive test.

4. Where should I isolate?

If you live on campus and are unable to get home or to your permanent residence off campus, you will be assigned to a private room located on campus in a designated “isolation” area, however, you may share a bathroom or other common areas with other Covid-19 positive students. If you are awaiting results, you will have a single room/single bathroom.

5. What will I do about classes & meals during isolation?

You will not be allowed to participate in any in-person classes or activities on campus during isolation. You will be required to attend classes virtually, as able. Your meals will be brought directly to you each day. The Health Center will notify your faculty.

6. What should I do if I have any health concerns during isolation?

Revised: 7.13.2021

Someone from the Wingate University Health Center will be communicating with you at least once daily via phone, text, or email. Should any of your symptoms worsen and it becomes inappropriate to continue your care through the Health Center, you will be transferred to Atrium Health-Union in Monroe. One of the nurse practitioners from the health center will provide any necessary care virtually or in-person, depending on the patient's changes in symptoms.
