I'd like to sell houseplants like calathea, English Ivy, and succulents like echeveria and sedum. I will grow the small plants inside my home or greenhouse from cuttings and sell them on a website when they're large enough. I have considered trying to sell them at farmers markets occasionally as well. I will keep my materials stored indoors in my garage. They'll include soil, soil amendments, plant pots, small quantities of fertilizer, and packaging materials. When a sale is made I'll package the plants in cardboard boxes and paper wrapping and plan to ship through the post office, fedex, or UPS. I may receive shipments of plants from wholesalers a few times per year depending on sales. They'll arrive in a few cardboard boxes depending on order size. I do not plan to have any customers or employees on site.
