Stephen Shackelford, RTM District 8	250 North Avenue	Respectfully, we need clarification on how vendors, including Google, could use the students' personal information even without "reveal[ing]" it. We have been asking for this for some time, and we deserve to know the answer to that question before a policy is adopted. And given the invasive nature of these surveys, we need survey-by-survey opt-in. And we need the paper option. These are meant to be anonymous surveys, but we need confirmation that if they're entered online, there is no way at all they can be used. And if the answer is, "sorry, that's just Google, they have a contract with the state, we can't change how they use the information," fine, let's make that information widely publicly known, and give a strong opt-in procedure and a paper option.
