

NEWCASTLE ROYAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL

HUGH FELL

I currently have a number of consultancy and non-exec roles in addition to running my own business in the North East, which I did for 30 years, before I stepped away from it in 2015.

My skill set helps people recognise what is important to them and then I help them to deliver a strategy that delivers those priorities.

Much of my work is within family-owned businesses and involves decision-making that is focused upon the individuals as opposed to shareholder/institution objectives. Those businesses vary greatly in scale and value, but all of them are personal and often have a focus on the next generation.

I am a retired Fellow of the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors and a retired arbitrator, and currently practice as a qualified mediator.
