CENTAURUS HIGH SCHOOL

Warrior Weekly News

Principal's Message

As we settle into a more typical school year, with students taking more classes at a time than they did last year, we are seeing an uptick in student stress related to class levels and student doubts about their ability in their classes. Students often feel overwhelmed at the beginning of the year, and this year is no different. We are moving from a 4 day, virtual, quarter system into a full schedule. This is a lot of change, and I know that this may be stressful for a lot of students.

We would like to partner with you in supporting students through this transition, particularly those students who may be feeling overwhelmed with challenging, advanced level classes. If your student is feeling overwhelmed, nervous, or unsure in any of their classes, we want to encourage them to meet with their teachers in order for meaningful conversations to take place. I sincerely believe that if students bring their concerns and doubts to their teachers, Centaurus teachers will be able to address any concerns, whether they be related to social/emotional, executive functioning, or academic areas.

We want our students to receive the message that they can succeed and that they have the support they need. Please join us in helping our students adjust and rise to their greatest potential.

Daniel Ryan

Getting to know your Centaurus Team: KATE HILL

Each week we will introduce a member of the Centaurus staff and teachers to our parent and student community. This week, we'd like to introduce Kate Hill.

Ms.Hill is a 10th grade U.S. History teacher at Centaurus High School. She grew up in California and moved to Colorado to attend University of Northern Colorado to study history and secondary education. She continued her education from here and got her masters degree. Between these degrees Ms.Hill decided she needed a small break from education and backpacked the entire 2,653 miles of the Pacific Crest Trail from Mexico to Canada. Now she has backpacked almost 4,000 miles in total! Along with backpacking Ms.Hill loves to get outside with her partner and her golden retriever to rock climb, backcountry ski, and trail run. If you are trying to set Ms.Hill on a tangent, mention anything about outdoor recreation or ask about her dog Yuki.
