

Gary Enis Has Done It All For TPSD

TUPELO, Miss. — Gary Enis has been with Tupelo Public School District for 23 years in various capacities.

But as youngster, if you would have asked him his dream job, it would have been the FBI.

Now in his second year as director of transportation, Enis graduated from Tupelo High School in 1991 and continued his education at Itawamba Community College and Delta State, where he played baseball.

Wife Catherine and sons Garrett and JP hold a huge place in his heart, as well as his mother Patsy and his biggest role model, father Gary, Sr.

His favorite sporting moment came as coach, when center fielder William Goss threw to catcher Ben Hudspeth for the final out to beat Madison Central in the 2011 North Half Championship game.

In his spare time, he details cars and tries to get to as many Cardinals games at Busch Stadium in St Louis as he can. He's also a big fan of the New York Yankees.

And if there's a must-have food, it's his sister Ginger's famous spaghetti. With seconds, of course.

This week's TPSD Administrative Focus and winner of a Buffalo Wild Wings gift card is Gary Enis.
