Title I Facts

Purpose of Title I

To assist schools in helping disadvantaged students meet Georgia's challenging student academic achievement standards.

Qualification

Schools qualify for funds based on economic need.

-Comprehensive Needs Assessment: the school must identify areas of greatest need.

-School-wide reform strategies to include those that:

- Strengthen the core academic program
- Increase the amount and quality of learning time
- Strategies for meeting needs of underserved populations
- Address needs of all, but particularly low-achieving.

-Instruction by "highly qualified" teachers

-Professional learning for teachers

-Strategies to increase parental involvement

-Assisting in transition from PreK to Kindergarten

-Include teachers in decisions regarding use of academic assessments to provide information on, and to improve, student achievement.

-Activities to ensure students who experience difficulty master the standards

-Coordinate and integrate Federal, State, and local services and programs.

Parents Have the Right....

- To know the professional qualifications of their child's teacher(s) including the degrees and certifications held, and whether the teacher is certified in their respective area of instruction..
- To know the level of achievement of their child in each area of the state assessment.
- To know if their child has been assigned, or has been taught for at least four consecutive weeks, by a teacher who does not meet the highly qualified definition.
- To be involved in the planning and implementation of the parent involvement program in their school.

Schools began receiving Title I funds in 1965 as part of President Johnson's War on Poverty under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

President Bush's administration reauthorized the Elementary and Secondary Education Act in 2001 and named it No Child Left Behind Act of 2001.

The latest reauthorization was in 2015 under President Obama and was named the Every Student Succeeds Act of 2015.

The United States Department of Education now allows school districts to consolidate Federal, State and local funds to allow for greater flexibility. This is called "Consolidation of Funds". Walker County Schools began participating in the Consolidation of Funds on July 1, 2018.
