

STUDENT OF THE MONTH

January 2021

Leo Tabone

In the short time that Leo has been with us he has made a great impact on everyone around him.

He is liked by everyone in the house and his superb sense of humour has led him to make some lifelong friends here. I am sure that he will be the first to admit his dancing skills are not necessarily his strong point, yet despite this he threw himself into the house Christmas challenge and demonstrated true Wellington spirit.

He is one of the politest pupils I have ever had contact with and is always respectful of his teachers. His maturity and approach to his work has seen him make excellent progress in his studies and I am sure he experience great success in any future career path that he chooses.

Mr Comber

My goodness, Leo is a current and future star. Leo performs at pace in Geography, yet consistently with thought and accuracy.

He strives to complete all tasks and where there is a choice of extension activities, Leo will try to complete them all. In doing so, he demonstrates insight beyond his years, whether its analysing the structure of population pyramids, researching the Tuareg people of the Sahara, or successfully learning the names and locations of all European countries.

In the Teams breakout rooms, Leo has also proven to driving force with his group.

Mr Doherty

In his short time at Prior Park, Leo has quickly immersed himself in the life of the school, and been a star performer in math classes and tutor-time quizzes (where he easily won first place).

He is cheerful, hard-working and makes friend easily with his classmates.

Mr Kelly

Leo is a fantastic student in PE, he excelled when playing badminton showing brilliant skill and has shown he is a natural sportsman in all activities he has participated in so far.

What I have been most impressed with, is Leo's kind, modest and caring nature. He shows genuine empathy towards others and encourages his peers to fulfil their potential.

Leo always gives 100% effort in lessons and tackles any task with a positive can-do attitude. You have been an excellent addition to our school and a role model for others.
