

Potomac School Book Fair November 2021

Here are local community organizations currently accepting adult fiction and nonfiction book donations that Potomac families can directly donate to.

Habitat ReStores in Rockville and Silver Spring - building strength, stability, and self-reliance through shelter.

Habitat for Humanity's ReStores accept any type of book donations. Proceeds from sales of the books help Habitat build affordable housing in the DMV area. Book donations can be dropped off at their locations in Rockville and Silver Spring from Monday through Sunday, 12 pm - 3 pm. See website here.

Delivery Details: ReStore Rockville, 1029 East Gude Drive, Rockville MD, 20850.
ReStore Silver Spring, 12006 Plum Orchard Drive, Silver Spring, MD, 20904.

Turning the Page - ensuring students receive valuable educational resources and high-quality public education.

Turning the Page accepts book donations of any genre for all ages with the exception of textbooks 10 years or older. Donations will be sold and profits will be used for educational programming to support public school students and families. Donation pick-ups are offered by Turning the Page. See website here.

Delivery Details: For delivery and pickup information, contact Marin Kirk at mkirk@turningthepage.org.

Goodwill of Greater Washington - transforming lives and communities through the power of education and employment.

Goodwill accepts book donations of any genre for all ages. Donations will be sold and a portion of profits will be given to the Goodwill Excel Center, an adult charter high school that offers the opportunity for individuals to earn their high school diploma and job training. All book donations can be delivered to any area Goodwill Donation Center. Donation drop off times are Monday through Sunday and times are variable by center. See website here.
