Resources and Notes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Teachers should tailor the essay assignments to fit the needs of each student (expository for English I, persuasive for English II). • Students should write in class every day- formally and informally, for different purposes, in timed and untimed contexts, and in varying lengths. • Reading selections and writing assignments should be thematically linked. • Understanding the SAR and essay rubrics is essential to be successful on the EOCs. Study the rubrics together as a class and use scoring guides to help students understand the application of the rubrics. • Students should be enrolled in Project Share’s Epsilon course for the EOC they need to master. • Copies of Texts and Lessons, a supplementary resource, is available for the exclusive use of all Practical Writing teachers on each campus. • Teachers should have writing folders for all of their students with sample writing pieces, EOC test analyses and reports, and test prep practice. • Students should work independently, in pairs, in small groups, and as a large group. • Talking with peers and teachers about their own reading and writing is an invaluable process as students work to improve.
