There once was a man that lived on this property she said he decided to build a camp for little kids like us he was so nice to little kids And then she said Legend has it that his ghost still comes around and trying to hunt down the kids that one pranked him And then He died after the prank was done the kids I said it was an accident I didn't mean to always be pay respect and what they did one day I'm the man he started taking kids killing them one by one if they weren't killed.

They would be sacrificed. Sarah said it was just a legend it couldn't be true then she couldn't fall asleep at night she fell asleep for one minute she woke up she was thirsty so she went to the kitchen to get a glass of water she didn't know that she was supposed to she didn't know what was coming next she got her a glass of water she put it down in the sink when she was done with it she went back to her cabin. With Ruby Shara, there a man outside he was carrying something like a baby or something. She looks closer and she sees it's her friend Ruby. AHHH, she screams one of the camp counselors came running to John. John asks Sara if she's okay she says there's a man outside with Ruby she looks on Ruby's bunk bed Ruby was still there she said are you feeling alright Ruby should you go back home maybe you're homesick. I'm just tired. John said goodnight Sarah Said Goodnight John . Sarah got up in the morning and got Ready for summer camp activities. But Ruby didn't want to get up

CHAPTER 2:

THE WITCH

So Sarah just got ready for some camp activities other kids were saying to other kids. We're saying Ruby was dead, she was covered in scratches, Sarah and John had no idea they thought Ruby was just sleeping and then the weirdest thing happened to all the kids and counselors went missing day after day until it was just down to John and Sarah. John and Sarah had an idea. She told John that they should trick the man. So they went to the woods to find the man but instead they just found an old Shack. They found old pictures. John the counselor said she knew that man was in the photo. It was the camp manager John told Sarah other "Peck had died of a prank that a group of kids played on him so they put them in the oven. You'll be fine then one of the kids in the group really wanted to kill him so when the other kids said they're going to the restroom. The other kid put on the oven On the oven the other kids running out the restroom because they heard screaming they didn't know look at you been doing what you was thinking so then they ran to go tell a counselor the time. So Sarah and John Listen to the witch say "If you do not find my hand you shall never be free" said the witch. Sarah and John are shocked.

CHAPTER 3:

THE WOMEN

Said "The witch is making The man find her right hand".

John was so confused he did not know what happened then Sarah saw something far away it looked like a woman Sarah said "John look there is a woman outside should we go warn her".

Sarah asked John. Then John said "look Closer Sarah looked closer."

She sees a woman but she doesn't really look human; they're going to look for the witch's hand. what was going on they didn't know they thought it had something to do with the witch to go look for the witch's hand they wanted to get it before the man but it was too late the man had got it first they're only two but there's two people the witch in The Man but there's but another person she was a woman apparently she died the same way as The man handed the hand to the woman. The woman give the hand to the witch so then The man and The woman said to the witch "let us go to the afterlife" but then the witch said "both of you fell for my trick i was never going to send you to the afterlife in fact i do not have power to send you to the afterlife"

Sarah and John are shocked about what they just heard Sarah felt so bad for the man and the woman. But John felt a different emotion. John was shocked he did not know the past of the camp; he was just there to help kids; he did not know there was a history about the camp. Sarah and John see the man and the woman yelling at the witch telling them to get them to the afterlife then witch said I will not let you go because she said they help her and now she wanted The camp to go down in flames Sarah and John weren't happy about this Sarah and John died of the Wade to get them to the other to the afterlife so Sarah and John spent hours thinking how they can send them to the afterlife just like they wanted to Sarah said they died again John said how will that help us Sarah said I want to go to the afterlife You have to die again don't you Sarah told John I read a book about this she said if you want to send a spirit back to the afterlife

Chapter 4:

The Beginning to the end

You should make them die the same day they died. Remember the day the camp manager died.

He also remembered how the camp manager assistant guide and what day it was John told Sarah "There was a way to send it to the afterlife and stop this madness and probably bring all the other kids back."

Sarah asked "John how could they send them back"

John said "What if they died on the same day!"

Sarah said "That's not a bad idea"

Sarah and John thought about how many they could save when they save this place and stop this madness Sarah and John went back to the cabins they went to the kitchen they saw the oven they would be up to see if anything was under there our clues under the oven a witch Circle popped up Sarah and John were so surprised they jumped back Sarah said this is probably why they're still here somebody drew the witch Circle under the oven on purpose. John And Sarah said I don't know if it was on purpose or on accident, Sarah said. Then said John I hear somebody coming Sarah and John just behind the the counter

Sarah and John look above the counter they see it's the woman they've never encountered the woman Sarah was so scared. She was holding John super tight. Then John said don't be scared Sarah. The woman kept singing over and over until she left cuz she thought there were no kids in here Sarah and John were so scared they didn't know what to do. They lured the man and the woman in the kitchen and put them in the oven

Sarah asked the woman "what's your name".

"My name is Ruby Ackerman".

Sarah said are you related to my friend Ruby?" "Is her name Ruby roselia Ackerman".

Sarah said "yes"

The woman said "Ruby is my daughter".

She has live with her dad ever since I died Where is Ruby please note to self started Ruby was the one who told this the history of the camp the women started crying Sarah said Ruby's probably in heaven Then Said did you go to heaven EarlyYou might see Ruby the woman said thank you Sarah and John I hope you guys live a long life and after we go away your friends will all come back he didn't kill them or anything we just took them so you guys could help us find a witch's hand so we can go to the afterlife we didn't know her plan so Sarah said it's all right you know you guys going to be in it the woman said I'll probably see you again someday Sarah thank you for being friends with my daughter Rudy the woman went away Sarah and John check all the cabins all the kids are back they're all sleeping like it was just a bad dream Sarah Check her room just in case we we might be back she checked it nobody was there everybody woke up they said Google home. Now we just have to tell Ruby's dad the bad news.

A Halloween Treat

By: Hailey Yates

The day before Halloween three kids went camping in their friends backyard, and they told scary stories but one came true!!! They told scary stories about Clowns, Sandman, and the one that came true, the one that does not seem scary until it happens for real!! It was nothing but what was in the backyard they were in. It was about scarecrows. It is a very simple story. But after this you will wonder what became of these three children!

After the story there was a simple spook. Then all of the scarecrows in the neighborhood came into their backyard, and shook the tent a little. "What was that?" They looked outside the tent and saw an army of scarecrows and some dolls that sang a little song. She immediately closed the tent, and they went inside when they left.

The next day on halloween they went trick or treating. The first house they went to the guy dressed as a scarecrow and scared them so badly they ran, and ran and ran!!! Until they didn't know where they were. Then they realized... they were in the graveyard. The children saw bloody fingers and skulls everywhere. They all ran home terrified of what was really going to happen this Halloween.

By the time they all turned 12 they went camping on Halloween for the first time since they were nine. The three children had told scary stories as they did before. This time they were camping in a tent at the new national park next to all of their parents' tents. They finally heard marching in the middle of the night. They all were confused, and they looked out...

The three children saw nothing then they went back in. they heard it again they saw an army of scarecrows

BOOM BOOM BOOM they heard over and over.

They all screamed as loud as a tiger! Next thing you know they were never seen again...

CRASH!?!? Theo jumped out of bed and brushed aside a bit of his brown hair and put his soccer trophy back after it fell down from the shelf and smelt something really good downstairs. He heard his mom scream after she had dropped the pots and pans and instantly knew today was the day that he and his friends were having their slumber party since his mom was making pancakes which she only makes on special occasions. Later during school he and his sister Katelyn sat eating lunch across from Airon and Raiden, "are you guys excited for tonight?" said raiden.

"Of course we are me and Theo can't wait, we haven't ever been to a sleepover!" said Katelyn with tons of energy.

Later after school he and Katelyn were packing for the slumber party when their mom yelled, "Dinner's ready!" Theo and Katelyn ate as fast as they could and then finished packing their stuff. "Bye! Have a good time you two and no fighting ok?" said their mom with a sweet voice.

"Don't worry mom, it'll be fine with me, Katelyn won't fight" Theo said as they walked to the doorstep of airon's house and knocked on the door.

Later all of them were sitting down playing uno and enjoying some candy when they heard Airon's mom say "kids it's time to get some sleep bring the candy bowl and the uno downstairs"

"Okay" said everyone and Katelyn brought the bowl and uno downstairs while the others got the tv and their sleeping bags ready. Theo put in the CD for the movie and Airon's mom brought them popcorn. "Thanks" they said.

"No problem," Airon's mom responded with a smile.

Soon Airon and Katelyn fell asleep while Raiden and Theo continued to watch the movie. Meanwhile a scientist was experimenting on skeletons in his lab on the hill that loomed over the city and cast a shadow that covered the block. Not many had visited him. Suddenly the skeleton came to life and its ghost appeared and floated away. Raiden and Theo heard someone scream. Other ghosts were appearing and one came into the room and took Katelyn. Theo grabbed the empty popcorn bowl and put it over the ghosts eyes then woke up Airon and they all ran downstairs. Then they saw Airon's mom making a racket with pots, hitting skeletons with them. "Quick everyone out of the house now," she said with an entirely calm voice.

Each of them grabbed a stick to fend off the skeletons and went in a line out of the house towards Katelyn's and Theo's house. Theo ran inside and yelled, "Mom!?" Theo's mom was in the kitchen banging pots to scare the ghosts away.

Theo threw one of the sticks he picked up and threw it at a skeleton they had across the room into the kitchen and ran into the room holding another stick. "Mom follow us quickly!"

But then a skeleton rose up from the dirt in their lawn unaffected by their sticks so Theo's mom ran back inside and grabbed the pots and pans and smashed the bones of the skeleton. "quickly to the tree house!"

Each of them climbed into the tree house. They all ducked down, stayed inside the tree house and then Theo ran for the back door to his house with his stick and was scared by a skeleton which he hit and slashed with a stick. "That was too close for comfort," Theo said with a terrified face.

After a few minutes the coast was clear. The zipline that went to Theo's room was connected. They sent Theo to set it up inside the house. Theo's and Katelyn's mom tied water bottles to the zipline and it went down to the window of Theo's bedroom. "I'll go refill these i'll be back!" Theo yelled as he started to go to the kitchen.

Meanwhile the scientist was wandering around town collecting bones of the skeletons that were defeated and the spirits of the ghosts who were scared away. A few hours later Katelyn's and Airon's mom started putting snacks all around to make sure they could survive their for a while theo and Airon were grabbing stuff from Airon's house. "Hey, would these bags of chips help?" said Airon from his closet.

"Maybe" Theo responded.

"Ok I'll get some sticks for a fire really quick" Airon said.

Later with the scientist, he was experimenting with bones to see if he could bring the skeletons back. He was running around grabbing something strange every second and breaking glass beakers when he finally found what he was looking for. "Finally my drink and also the formula that brought these things to life in the first place," the scientist said with a grin.

"Hey!" a mysterious voice said from the closet.

"Who said that? This place is restricted to authorized personnel only! I need to see your card!" the scientist said from the other side of the room.

"I'm sorry it's not like me to be rude like that. Let me introduce myself. I'm Josh, Josh the ghost" the ghost emerged from the closet slowly and the scientist felt the air get colder. The lights were flickering on and off.

"I'm afraid your tampering with the afterlife you see that liquid that brought me here shouldn't be possible and if i'm here then that means that you're the one who was disrupting my friends slumber so I'm going to need that liquid hand it over," the ghost said.

The scientist fumbled with a few beakers for a second and then said "fine i just wanted some friends but if this could mess with the afterlife then a mortal like me can't possibly be allowed to have it" the scientist said with a frown but then he threw the liquid onto the ground opening a rip in time and sucking him in.

When he woke up he was in a mansion with dust and creepy sculptures. A few bats flew through the main entrance and perched themselves on the roof. Once he got up he ran for the door but when he got there he heard a click and tried opening the door but it was locked. "Is anyone else here!" he screamed in fear.

The only thing that answered back was an echo of his loud scream and the bats hissing at him for being too loud. He was alone and crept out. He walked around the house for a bit looking for an exit but the only options were the door because the windows had been boarded up and some of the other rooms higher up were locked and it seemed he needed a key.

Meanwhile back with Theo and the others they were running to the lab since they had seen a bright beam of light shoot up from it. "What do you think happened? I hope everyone's all right," said Theo with a worried voice as he and the others kept running up the broken and cracked stone stairs.

When they got up to the lab they searched for life; all they found was an ID card of the scientist and shattered glass beaker of the strange liquid, "What happened here, there are so many broken beakers and shattered glass," said Raiden, who was searching in the corner of the lab.

Theo and Airon crept over to the closet and opened it, finding the sleeping ghost Josh. Theo and Airon jumped back, almost breaking another beaker after they bumped into the counter and it tipped off. Luckily Raiden caught it after arriving a few seconds before they opened the closet. "Why is there a ghost in the closet?" Airon said a bit scared.

"I don't know but whatever the reason I'm sure it was the flash that we saw earlier," Raiden said with a chill in his voice.

Then they heard a yawn and turned back to the closet and saw the ghost rubbing his eyes and getting up. When he saw them he jumped and they all went still. "Why hello there what brings you here, oh wait you must have seen the flash well if you're wondering that flash was a portal to my dimension where i like to scare the untrustworthy" Josh said with a ghostly voice.

Suddenly Josh grabbed Airon and dragged him into the floor. "Airon!?" Theo screamed trying to hold back tears.

Theo looked back at the now closed closet again and it creaked open slowly. The scientist was back as a skeleton. The scientist jumped out and grabbed Raiden, and Airon's mom then dragged them into the closet. When it opened again, it was empty and it was now just Josh and Theo.

Josh jumped at him but as soon as Josh grabbed his arm everything went black. A few minutes later he woke up perfectly alive and in his sleeping bag. Everyone was there entirely fine and Airon's mom came in and said, "Breakfast's ready!"

THE DAY THE GIRL DISAPPEARED

By: SonyBella Real

Chapter 1: The first step

The year was 2011 september 20th, there was a girl in her new big gray house. Her name was Tammy and she had blue hair and loved pizza and hated school. She was all alone. Her parents were never home because they always go on vacation.

It was midnight where a lot of people would go out in people's houses playing games like Sorry and Life with their friends because every year it was a tradition to go into people's houses and play board games. But this time it was different. Everyone disappeared. This was nothing like before. Somehow Tammy did not disappear because she had nothing wrong that she had done. When Tammy was done with her homework she heard the door ring.

Ding Dong Tammy looked at the door as she turned her head. The door opened and a girl appeared with a knife and said her name was Elda. That's when Tammy got out of her seat and hid under the table, with the long dark table cloth, in the kitchen and said.

"You can't find me!" Then, Elda left because she did not want to waste her time on this girl. Tammy was sure she knew who Elda was. She was the demon who took all the people in the neighborhood but she never came to Tammy until now. That's when Tammy knew she had to watch out for this demon.

CHAPTER 2: THE GIRL IS GONE

While Tammy was at home trying to call her parents to tell them that Elda was in the house, but her parents are on vacation and they don't get signal on their cellphones.

Later that day she goes to hang with her friends in the other neighborhood, but they all disappeared. That's when Tammy ran home because her parents came home when they heard the news that Elda was coming. But then Elda appeared and took Tammy to the demon world.

Tammy couldn't see anything so that's when she screamed but no one could hear her Tammy was scared.

Elda then appeared she said to Tammy "You will not see your parents ever again". Tammy looked scared but Elda didn't care she took Tammy's soul so Tammy screamed as loud as she could but she died. Elda went and acted like Tammy as she went to Tammy's house just like she did with everybody's soul.

Tammy's parents came home and heard nothing. The house was quiet so then they went upstairs and found her on her big blue bed just reading a book and greeted her then went into their room to go unpack so when they left Elda closed the door and showed her face but the parents never saw it. So after the parents Molly and Mike unpacked they told Tammy to come to dinner and said "Come eat your food it's your favorite dish". Elda did not know what she was going to eat so she tried it but hated it so then she went to sleep.

The next morning the parents were at store getting things but that's when Elda heard playing she knew there were more souls to take so she went outside and looked she found it Elda ran as fast as she could and took the children they were both really scared she talked to them and said, "Nighty Night don't let the bedbugs bite."

They both screamed but this time Elda didn't take as her soul she took it to tammy. Tammy had just woken up from her sleep and said, "No, don't ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh!"

CHAPTER 3: THE DAY OF DEMONS

Elda was getting ready to put the souls in Tammy's body and while Elda was putting the souls in Tammy's body while was putting the souls in she was chanting a spell like "Thos meh kin," saying it 3 times over and over. This was nothing she'd seen before Tammy was thinking of saying something, so she said it.

“Mom and Dad, when I was in the demon world with Elda, she put two souls in my body. See, I don’t think they will get out” she said while crying. Her parents were sad.

CHAPTER 4: A SCARY TIME NOW

Elda appeared out of nowhere talking and started talking with the family so when the parents and Elda had to have a private conversation but Elda didn't take it seriously she had killed both parents Tammy heard a scream and went upstairs and started crying both her parents were dead! So then Elda left.

Tammy screamed so hard that when she stopped crying both of her parents were glowing they were giving the power of heaven to their daughter. Tammy was floating all of a sudden and didn't know what was happening. Somehow a shining light went through the house Elda saw the shining light and went in the house and saw that Tammy had the magic of heaven Elda left to go in the dark red haunted house she had to warn the other demons that war was coming and it was going to be Humans vs. Demons.

Elda was going to the big dark red Palace so she could warn her demon friends that war was coming Elda called everyone for a meeting by saying,

"Everybody i call a demon meeting" she said she tools all the demons that war was tomorrow and left the room. Elda went to go see Tammy but she wasn't home she even checked the playground but she wasn't there but then Elda heard something it's like some people were shouting shouting like,

"WE WILL WIN THIS WAR! WE WILL WIN THIS WAR"!

Over and over not stopping and the person who led this was Tammy. Elda went home and started to tell all the demons to get ready for war and then they went to the central park and got ready to fight and this war was led by Elda this war was going to settle this once and for all then they fought and fought and finally ended it.

"GAH!" I said in a frightened face, I was sleeping, and my dream was about this beautiful, lively, forest. As I wandered around this forest, I found a tribe that lived there! "Uh, hi! My name is Fleur, I don't know where I'm at..", I said,

The tribe just smiled, as I was super confused! This mysterious tribe wasn't rich in everything, but they told me about this forest called "Lian Moco". They were dressed in leather and leaves. As soon as I was about to speak, this tribe had my mother! My mother had gone missing for 2 years. I was speechless... As soon as I was about to hug her, everything had downgraded. The trees began to rot, the green grass turned into a yellowish greyish color! The tribe had passed away in horrible ways, like I had seen their future. And lastly, my mother had disappeared in thin air.

"MOTHER!" I yelled. I woke up as soon as she was gone.

"Sweetie? Everything alright up there?"

My Father said, "Everything alright up there?"

I couldn't say anything at all. "

I had a dream about Mother." I said, but after I had said that he sighed,

"Look I know you miss her, but you have to move on..!"

As soon as he said that, I sighed as well.

I groaned as I got ready and was exhausted. My brown hair was all frizzled while I was in deep sleep, My black eyes were really blurry! I went to brush my hair IMMEDIATELY! After brushing all my hair, I decided that I wanted pigtails for today. Once I was all ready, I decided to go to Mr. Smith, our next door neighbor. His old home was rotting, but Mr. Smith didn't have a care in the world.

"Mr. Smith?"

I caught him making a mysterious looking shed in his dead backyard. "Oh, hello there Fleur!" He claimed,

"Hi Mr. Smith! What is this shed for?"

As soon as I said that, he was sweating profusely. "It's for my daughter..!"

I had a puzzled look on my face. Mr. Smith never had a daughter. I started getting uncomfortable and left as soon as I could. When I had encountered my home, Father wasn't there. "Father?"

I had realized, this was the time I could search that forest, if it ever existed.. I brought supplies, and put on my helmet to ride my bike. As I was riding out of the neighborhood, I found the forest, and it was surprisingly really close to the neighborhood. I stopped my brakes and parked my bike on the dead grass. When I entered, I immediately felt presence, like people used to live here.

I kept my cool, and sighed. "Hello? Anybody there?"

No one answered, so I assumed there was no one. The forest was filled with this gross odor. The trees were naked, insects beginning to swarm around me. This was nothing like the forest in my dream.. It was the complete opposite. Every time I kept going to this same spot of tall grass, the odor kept luring in. It was weird that this specific spot only had tall grass. I was soon feeling nauseous, but I wanted to see if something was in there, because clearly, there's no cause for the smell of the grass. As I kept stepping around that spot, I somehow found a handle! It was rusted and old, as if it was here for years. As I tried to open it, The handle was stuck, so I had to use pure strength into it.

"CHING!"

it finally opened. When I entered, it was this strange, murky, underground place. Shelves with each molded candle, the walls were built of wood.

"What is this place?"

I quivered. I grabbed one of the candles, and there came a path! I sighed, and grabbed a handy flashlight just in case this would happen. I entered, and dropped the flashlight. All I saw were locks on various safes.

I didn't want to believe it.. This one specific safe was hiding in the corner.

"Why would this one be hiding..?"

I struggled, but as soon as I checked the name and address, I gasped. The rusty safe was labeled with my mother's name and our address. I began to breathe heavily in a terrifying way.

"So you found her? What a shame.."

"IT WAS YOU ALL ALONG!"

I teared up. It was Mr. Smith.. I knocked out all the candles to him trying to escape. "GET BACK HERE!"

I began to sob. Running back to the path I came from, he grabbed me, but I kicked his chin! I had managed to escape. I quickly got on my bike and rode as fast as I could. I was finally there, I locked all the doors and windows. Father was finally home!

"FATHER!"

I yelled, he ignored me. I was shocked, but he had probably had a bad time at work, so I brushed it off. I wiped my tears, and let him in. I was telling him everything that happened, but he still kept ignoring me! "

Dad..? Aren't you even listening to what I said?" I said worriedly,

"Okay fine, I'm sorry for going out without your permission.."

I said. At night it was time for kids to come out in costumes.

I just decided to get groceries as my father stayed home. This grocery store wasn't an ordinary store, it had fruits, candies, foods from everywhere around the world! The floors were polished and the walls were shining as bright as ever! When I got there with my bike, I started thinking about what to get for home.

"Eggs, flour, milk, snacks.." I thought to myself. As I was getting all the stuff I needed, the lights had turned off.

"What the?" The grocery store's lights went out, and everyone had disappeared.. A phonograph appeared, and it started playing this song I knew, "It's just a burning memory." Everytime the song went farther, and farther to the end, it would keep pausing. Bad trauma came back from Mr. Smith. I cover my ears and begin to sob, knowing I can't do anything to make it go away.. "

Stop, just PLEASE."

I cried out while curling in a ball. I felt like a helpless child, not knowing what to do. The phonograph stopped, and the lights came back, and the people were back once again. As they came back, everyone ignored me! I wiped my tears away, and continued shopping.

I finished shopping and went to the self checkout.

When I paid for the groceries, I went on my bike and rode back to my home. As I was riding my bike, I felt nauseous, and tired. I was confused, but passed out immediately..

7 hours passed, and I woke up. “..what..happened..?” I realized I was at the side of the road, blessed I wasn't in the middle. It took me a second to get up, carry the groceries and continue riding my bike home. I felt sorry for my father for not returning in a long time.

I finally entered the house, and immediately apologized to him..

“Father, I am so sorry, I felt really nauseous and tired-”

I paused, while I caught him crying, with a picture of me. I didn't know how or what to do.. I had let him be so he could get over what was happening. I felt exhausted and decided to sleep more. I was in a deep sleep, dreaming...when I woke up on my bed in the middle of the night, but I couldn't move.. I was starting to get scared.

“Father, I can't move...father?”

I said crying. At the head of my bed, a voodoo doll of me had appeared. My room shifted into a moldy, wet, abandoned-like-room. There was a pin, poking the voodoo doll. “AGH!” I screamed in pain. The voodoo doll started speaking nonstop gibberish words, “Fee doh tu la lo..” “Fee doh tu la lo...” Blood filled the room causing me to have trouble breathing. “Gurgle, Gurgle!” I still couldn't move. As soon as I lost breath, I woke up. I ran to my father, crying. “FATHER! I had a nightmare..”

I said, but he was getting ready for something. “...Father?”

I wiped my tears away.

I just decided to get ready with him. He still has never spoken to me. We arrived at the place and it was a funeral he was attending. As we were parking, I saw Mr. Smith.. I was terrified, but as long as I'm with Father, he will always protect me.. We were walking to a grave that looked like it was new. As soon as I saw the name on that tombstone, I stopped moving. The name on it was "Fleur. I had been dead the whole time.

. The water drops raced across the window. In my alaska country house. Everyone was still recovering from the big blizzard. But people have been going missing. It has been a search for months. It's almost as if they had just vanished. The only clue is a picture of a blue man that says. Where are they? 3 months ago. "Uhh ahh my head hurts. It's throbbing ah mom can i get some tylenol" Luke said. "Mom Mom Mom ahh". His eyes began to open. It was a windowless room all he could see was brick walls around him. And two kids who looked as if they were beaten up by a gorilla. they had bruises, cuts and blisters. Luke was so confused because he swore he was in his bed last night. He could not think of how he got here. He panicked and screamed and woke up the other kids. they all screamed in unison. "Who are you back off you don't want to mess with me" Jacob said. "Hey I'm not gonna hurt you I don't know where we're at either" Luke said in a concerned voice "Uh ahh where am I ahhh who are you to" Josiah said. "I uhh don't know" Jacob said. The only object in the room was a very old typewriter. All three of them inspected it in hope for a clue. They began typing random letters they typed a w. A brick came out of the wall but not fully. Then another brick came out. It was trial and error for hours until they finally typed out. Where are they? They used the bricks as a staircase but there was a vent so Josiah punched. They were all in shock; the vent must have been steel. he punched 2 more times and it fell off. They began crawling and they found an opening. They were in a very deep moist forest. "Oh noo what do we do now" Luke said in a frustrated voice. "2" rounds left round 1 complete all players remaining". Robotic voice said. "What kind of sick game is this" Jacob said as vomit came out of his mouth. There was soft Italian music playing. They followed the sound and it led to a shack. There were notebooks and couches. writings on the walls that say "where are they"? The notebooks had notes about fish. Then a loud bang a door was opened it had a brownie Luke ran two it. But then Josiah shouted "do not get the brownie it is a trap. I've seen this in a show before". "I don't care, I have not eaten anything in so long" he proceeded to the brownie he got into the room and the door slammed shut. In big bold letters it said bye bye. They shouted in fear. "Oh my god no i refuse to play any more". Josiah screamed. 3 people in purple raincoats came into the room. "Let me remind you guys of the cash prize. The mysterious men said. A huge piggy bank came from the ceiling. Money piled up thousands to millions of dollars. The money finally stopped. The counter had said 400 billion dollars. They were still determined to win. They started looking for clues. They crossed the path of a fence that was rusty. It was very weak but they did not want to risk tetiness. Then they heard a very deep loud hauling. It was getting louder and louder. As they panicked they saw big dog-like shadowy figures running towards them. They started scaling the fence once they got over it they bolted. They saw a blue car that was old from the 1950s. They got into the car with a sigh of relief. Some type of gas spewed from the windows. As they breathed it in it made them very sleepy. They woke up nearly 4 hours later. They were on a very dry sand hill. With plates that said "Great sand dunes of Colorado". A big bold robotic voice said "round 2 complete". In this round you will have to play a game of blind trade. The rules are you will be given 3 notes and you will sort them out. They will pick a number whatever number that is if you give them that card good luck." They laid out their cards one of them said stay in the game the second one said go home the 3rd one said infinite falling. Jacob selected first. He hesitantly said number 2. "Yes you chose to go home". Josiah said. "But then what happens to you?" Jacob said worryingly. The 3 creepy men came towards them and said "Your little friend Josiah will be eliminated". They picked him up by his arms and dragged him away as he kicked and screamed. Jacob passed out and hit the ground. As soon as he woke up he was in bed. He kicked off his blanket and rushed down stairs. "Mom Mom i woke up in a concrete room and we had to do a bunch of rounds and stuff." he said as he freaked out. His mom grabbed him and tied him to a chair and put him in a very dark room. The rest is a mystery. The end.

Escape It Or Not?

By: Baylee Harris, King Elem. 5th

Rosey woke up squinting in the sunshine and pounced out of bed. After she got dressed, she went downstairs for breakfast. She asked, "What's for breakfast Mom?" Her mom said, "It's bacon and eggs." She said, "Did you have a good sleep?" I said, "Yes." After she ate breakfast she went to school. After school she went to her room. Then it was 6:00 so she got on her costume and went off with her friends. Her friends had to go home after an hour.

Rosey set off and walked past the graveyard but before she did she saw candy out on the ground that wasn't eaten so she picked them up and put them in her bucket. Suddenly she was being pulled towards something she couldn't quite see what it was. Suddenly she heard a witch laugh, and then she heard a snake sound but it was a vampire. She entered the room witches room and she had cauldrons, wands, and spell books. She left the witch room and entered the vampire room she saw the vampire and almost got bit she screamed, "Aaaah! Whew, that was a close one." She entered a dark room but no one was there she said, "Hello" but no one answered. Finally she heard a voice and she could move again. The voice said "Help, help, help!" Rosey ran to the voice. That voice was a little boy. "My name is Walter." He said. "What's yours?" Rosey said, "My name is Rosey." Hi, Rosey. Said Walter. "Now sit." He said. He said, "Once upon a time there was a little boy named Walter. He went to school and learned. He asked to go fill up his water bottle and he did. Set it outside the door. Your dad poured cleaning spray in it so Walter drank it and died. Walter said. "Now you will die." "What will you kill me with?" She asked. "I will kill you with water." "Water?" I asked. "Poisonous water." He said. "Why?" Rosey said. Then he walked away

A Maze with No End

Diary,

Yesterday, after we went to a "haunted Mansion", my dad decided to take us to a maze made out of metal scrap and wood planks. Though this maze was literally made on a mountain, I didn't feel like it would be scary until I actually walked in. Let me tell you the long, spooky, story...

One hour drive, and we were finally at the maze. When we were parking, a bunch of mothers and fathers rushed out of the maze, "That was long!" One of the fathers said sarcastically. Obviously, I didn't care and rushed right into the maze. My father tried to catch up to me, "Slow down!" My dad yelled, but I didn't dare listen and continued running forward in the maze, then on one spot, there was a whole that led down to a cliff slide, there was a plank that I was supposed to balance on, I just hopped across the plank in seconds, then in the middle of the maze, there was a huge space where there was a blue portal in the middle, "Emily, get out of there now!" But I didn't care, I teleported into the portal...

I woke up in a forest surrounded by huge rock cliffs, and plenty of trails of horse tracks that I followed..this led to a secret kingdom surrounded by stone walls and archerers on the roofs of the towers.

Then my father ran after me"RUUUUUUUUUUNNNNN!!!"I was confused, but listened, then, I saw it, palace knights sprinting toward me with no heads,Ghosts?"I asked my dad"RUN!" He said again. I sprinted along with my father. Then, out of nowhere, I ended up being back in the maze, except, I was at the end of the maze. I exited, and sprinted toward the car with my father, and never went back to the maze or near there again.

None of my friends believed me, but I am not kidding!I did get a few notes while I was there though, let me show them,

Notes

- 1 I found out that the knights had armor from the old times.
- 2 I saw my dad the whole time actually. He ended up right behind my back the whole time.
- 3 The people who built this maze actually had human MASKS on the whole time, aliens?
- 4 This maze is located near a graveyard, maybe none of this happened, I was just freaking out.

③

5 Just kidding, this was a true story and my dad said I wasn't taking any pills or falling asleep.

6 So this is 100% real!

7 I am not kidding!

So, yeah, I had nightmares ever since that day, I hope that this will not continue diary,

The Halloween Nightmare

By Avian Burrow

We saw the ruins of our former city. Fallen over street lamps, stop signs, traffic lights. Big green zombies, pale white ghouls roaming the city like no other. "Has the apocalypse started? Will this be over soon?" We all thought and wished.

Hi, my name is William, I am 13 years old, I just moved here in Maddison. With a lot of cheese factories, farms, and everything else. Anyways I am writing this document to, well, document what has happened this Halloween, which is no ordinary Halloween, you'll figure out why soon enough.

Ever since I started my adventure here in Maddison, I always get a strange nightmare. I never had these nightmares in Chicago, it is only here in Maddison where I get this nightmare. I can't really describe these nightmares but they really freak me out. I really hope I can stop them.

October 30th 1989

RINGG. I woke up with my alarm clock blasting a ring in my ears, I turned it off and changed into new clothes, it is my first day of school after all.

I ran downstairs and I could smell sausage and pancakes. "You don't want to be late for school! Hurry and eat!" my mom said.

I ate my breakfast and I heard the school bus stop.

"The school bus is here, gotta go," I said with a frown.

"Don't be upset, I am sure you will make lots of friends" my mom said, "Yeah, sure" I said with a sarcastic tone.

I ran outside as fast as I could to get onto the school bus. I saw a bus driver, with blonde hair and an orange coat. She smelt like a dumpster.

"Hi I am William," I said.

"Whatever, sit down child" the bus driver said.

All of the seats were taken, besides one next to a kid sitting by himself, I sat with him. This kid had big glasses, a blue shirt, and sweatpants.

"Hey my name is Marcus" the kid said.

"Hey Marcus, I am William," I said.

"Are you new here?" he asked with a huge smile.

"Yeah," I said.

"I can show you around," he said "see you at school!"

After that, the bus ride was fairly normal.

We arrived at the new school campus, it had big bricks and posters surrounding the walls. I rushed to the doors, but before I went through the doors I heard huffing and puffing, I turned around, and of course, it was Marcus.

"Hey! William! I was in your science class, can I show you something at lunch?" I heard Marcus yell.

I walked to Marcus, "Hey, Marcus," I said.

"I have big news," Marcus exclaimed, "I've been looking around Maddison and I saw something...a haunted house!"

"What? There is no way-" I was stopped,

"I was looking inside the house and there is some kind of witch," Marcus said with terror.

"Where is the 'haunted house' you speak of?" I asked,

"Behind the park. Wooden, broken down, if you ever seen a movie with a haunted house you know what it looks like" he explained. "Mind coming with me to the house to check it out?"

"Sure, I don't have plans anyways," I said.

The bell rang and we all rushed to leave school. With Marcus by my side.

"Okay, I have to go home and tell my mom I am leaving," I said.

"Hey Mom! I'm going out, okay bye!" I yelled.

I slammed the door shut on my way out right before my mom asked about my day.

"What are you doing over here!" I said.

He looked back at me "Searching for anything to help us on our adventure" he said while grabbing something "hey! I found a lockpick, it can help us get in if it's locked."

"Alright, we can get on with this then," I said.

We walked to the big park, with children playing also where the "haunted house" is allegedly located.

"Alright, this is the park," he said, "we can find the house behind us."

The house was real, I don't know about the 'haunted' part.

"Looks like no one is home," I said.

"Then let's open it!" Marcus said as well as pushing the door open.

"We are doing this then," I said.

We walked in and we heard a laugh.

We walked towards where we heard the laugh, we saw something green, and a purple shirt. We followed it, to our surprise, it was real. It was a witch but as soon as we made eye contact the witch yelled "What are you doing?!?!"

"Uh, we are just looking around ma'am," said William.

"Oh, in that case. How are you doing, William and Marcus?" said the witch.

"How do you know our names?!?! We both screamed.

"I know everything, including your nightmares William," there was a slight pause, "I can help you but there is a catch, you drink this potion and you have one last nightmare and that nightmare comes to life"

I drank the potion immediately. It tasted like rotten eggs.

"There was supposed to be another potion... but whatever, now get out of my house children," said the witch.

We sprinted out. "Okay, that was mortifying," I said,

"Yeah, I don't wanna go there again. By the way, are you sure that potion is safe?" Marcus asked. "I hope so, whatever that dream is I hope it isn't bad," I wished. "I guess I will see you tomorrow," and we left to go home.

I went home and opened the door, my mom was standing there.

I ran to my room without saying a word. Opened my door and laid in my bed. I rushed to sleep. I had a dream, it would happen on Halloween, tomorrow.

October 31st 1989 (Halloween)

It is a Halloween night. I went through the school day, with Marcus by my side all the time, of course. It was my last period of the day, I was ready to leave, and the bell rang and Marcus ran up to me "Hey! What did you dream about?" he panted.

"Oh I don't remember. I guess we will find out soon enough," I said.

We left to go trick or treating but everything changed. In the streets were SWAT cars, police cars and better yet... MONSTERS! We saw zombies, ghosts, vampires, witches, and even horror movie characters.

"That's what I dreamed about! All the costumes will come to life!" I exclaimed.

"Okay, we need a place to hide and defend ourselves," Marcus said "right, the old witches house!"

"Are you crazy? We aren't allowed in there!" I exclaimed.

"Just come!" he insisted while grabbing my arm and darting for the witch's house. We tried to open the door, but it was locked.

"How are we going to get in now?" I asked.

"I still have that lockpick from yesterday," Marcus showed while opening the door with the lockpick. He kicked the door open and we ran to safety.

"GET OUT!" screamed the witch.

We left instantly and ran to the streets.

We ran to the city hall, the mayor was hiding inside for a lockdown. We saw SWAT, police, even the FBI. We told the officers about what's happening, none of them believed me. I got an FBI agent to look at the haunted house that we found or Marcus found. As soon as he looked through the window, he saw the witch and believed me.

He ran to the city hall and explained how I was telling the truth. The officers believed me now and started looking for things to stop this mess, not like they were doing that before.

We all started to find ways out of this. Until one officer found something.

"Guys! I found something! Come here!" an officer yelled.

We all rushed to the officer and he pointed to an internet building.

"What can we do with that?" we all said.

"We can try to shock all the monsters with it, and try to revert them," the officer said proudly.

We didn't think much of his idea and followed his lead, we entered the building and we saw a guy, sitting in a chair. He had a white lab coat, a tie and a pale face.

"What are you doing here?" I said.

"Oh, hi I am Dr. Brain I am trying to reverse the situation, I am trying to figure out something," the man said.

"Oh well we had an idea to electrify all the monsters and see if it works," I said.

"Quite smart, I guess we can try that," Dr. Brain Said

We tried to throw water onto the server to start an electricity fire, it started to spaz out and we left the building immediately, we ran to hide. And BOOM, the building blew up and electricity went across the city. Shocking all the monsters and reversing them. Hearing the city cheer was incredible.

The end.
