Experience the NEW

Dear New Britain Resident,

There is no denying we are traversing through tough times due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Businesses, schools, and public buildings have been shut down. We have been in quarantine for months. Many residents have lost loved ones. While the recovery process will be slow and tedious, New Britain is dedicated to safely reopening our city. Together, we will continue to prepare, prevent, and respond.

Through the CARES Act established by the federal government, funding has been allocated to New Britain to assist in supporting our small businesses, stocking our food pantries, upgrading city-owned facilities, supporting COVID responses and public services, providing help with eviction mediation, and purchasing necessary equipment for our first responders.

In order to comfortably reopen, we all must play a part in keeping one another safe. Please follow all protocol directives from the State. Wear a mask in public, social distance, and if you feel sick, stay home. We are excited and committed to reopening, but to do so successfully, we must follow public health guidelines so we don't have to go back into quarantine.

Remember to do your part to support our local New Britain businesses- they are the backbone of our community. Use this guide as a resource on how to help keep New Britain OPEN!

Stay safe and stay healthy,

A HISTORY OF NEW BRITAIN

New Britain was settled in 1687 before becoming a city in 1871. In the early 1900s, New Britain became home to manufacturers such as Stanley Works, P&F Corbin Company, and North & Judd, earning renown as the hardware capital of the world. Immigrants filled thousands of positions in the “Hardware City,” starting their lives in America right here in New Britain, CT.

New Britain is home to many firsts, including the first wire coat hanger, invented in 1869 by O.A. North, and the technique of dribbling in basketball, which was developed at the New Britain YMCA in 1895. The City covers 13.4 square miles and is home to approximately 73,000 residents. In addition to the world headquarters of Stanley Black and Decker, New Britain is also home to Central Connecticut State University, more than 1,200 acres of natural park land, the largest Polish business district outside of Chicago, the Museum of American Art and the New Britain Bees of the Independent Baseball League. In 2021, we will celebrate our sesquicentennial and plan to have a year’s worth of celebrations set forth to commemorate the milestone.

A HISTORY OF THE HIVE The Origin of the City Seal

On March 26, 1873, two years after the incorporation of New Britain, the Common Council adopted the recommendation of a special committee tasked with establishing a City seal and flag. The committee created a flag in predominately red and gold emblazoned with the City motto, “Industry fills the hive and enjoys the honey.” That phrase was penned by Elihu Burritt, a New Britain native commonly known as the “Learned Blacksmith,” and it stems from the “worker bees” who helped to transform New Britain into the hardware capital of the world over the first half of the 20th century. If you look closely at the seal, you can see seven bees, which represent New Britain’s seven founding factories: the Stanley Works; Fafnir Bearing; Landers, Frary, and Clark; Corbin Russwin; North & Judd Manufacturing; the New Britain Machine Company; and Skinner Precision Industries.
