Hello RAHS Families and Community –

I hope that everyone has had a very restful 5 days, filled with special time with your loved ones. Definitely this was a time we have all been able to reflect on and appreciate the small things in life. Now just a short three weeks until winter break!

Our first shout out goes to our amazing RAHS PTSA. Our PTSA has achieved the coveted Platinum Membership Award for the 2021-2022 school year. Achievement of the Platinum Membership Award indicates that our PTSA has enrolled at least 20% more members this year than the entirety of last year. Our leaders deserve acclaim for strengthening our PTSA during this time when our community needs them more than ever. Thank you to our parent lead Emily Swanson, parent of Brooke Swanson, for her dedication leading this effort!

Another huge congratulations goes out to Class of 2022 Senior Cap Linxweiler! Cap has attained the coveted level of Eagle Scout. Cap's project included a huge effort and giving back to the school in several ways. He started by emptying the large storage container that had been kept off campus, organized it and moved it all into the PTSA room for temporary storage. He then began work on refurbishing the original container. Welding the container was one of the main challenges and he elicited the assistance of Mr. Gudor to help him. After welding the container, the pandemic hit which posed additional challenges to the project. Once he could get back on campus he removed the fencing on the east side of the school and started to outfit the container, finalizing the project after an additional 16 hours of work. Cap, we thank you for your contribution – congrats on your Eagle Scout honor!

Two of our esteemed alumni are in the news at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Izzie Torres (class of 2018) and Nigel Barnett (class of 2021) are the President and Treasurer, respectfully, of the MIT Students for the Exploration and Development of Space. We are truly proud of the work that our graduates are engaging in for the future! We look forward to where the work takes them.

Have a wonderful week everyone!

Therese Tipton
