- Protected Class
 - A protected class is a group of people sharing a common trait who are legally protected from being discriminated against based on that trait. Examples of protected traits include race, gender, age, disability, and veteran status
- A violation [of the CVRA] is established if it is shown that racially polarized voting occurs in elections for members of the governing body
- Proof of an intent on the part of the voters or elected officials to discriminate against a protected class is not required
- The only effective way to comply is to have By-Trustee Elections
 - A district technically can have a different election system, but legal consensus is any other system would leave a district vulnerable to lawsuits
