

Good evening Finalsite Clients,

At this time, we have restored admin access to more than 90 percent of websites and progress bringing files back online continues. Our engineers will keep working around the clock until everything has been restored.

As we work to restore all Composer modules, we still recommend limiting software use to important page updates and avoid reliance on Alerts, Messages and eNotify. We will provide an update on usage of these modules as soon as possible.

We will continue to work through the weekend and will provide you with another update in the morning. You can also subscribe to updates at status.finalsite.com.

Sincerely,

Tim McDonough
Chief Client Officer
