

Good morning Finalsite Clients,

We are continuing to make great progress and have now restored admin access to more than 70 percent of sites.

We are still working to restore styling, calendar events, athletics, news/posts and directory elements and expect to make more progress throughout the day.

We still recommend that you limit software use to important page updates or edits and avoid relying on Alerts, Messages and eNotify until our monitoring metrics show greater stability.

To minimize reports from your users of missing functionality, we also recommend adding a Page Pop to inform users that not all elements are fully restored.

We continue to work through the weekend and will provide you with another update this evening on the status of the situation.

Sincerely,

Tim McDonough
Chief Client Officer
