District Seeking Quality Candidates for Teaching, Support Positions

A job expo may not be the industry norm for public education. But it's a strategy Ohio's eighth largest public school district is taking to help recruit a diverse pool of candidates for both teaching and support positions.

Going into the 2017-2018 school year, Lakota Local Schools is gearing up for a busy recruitment season starting with its inaugural Job Expo on Saturday, March 11. The open house event, scheduled from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Lakota West

Lakota's Digital Learning Week Highlights Technology Strides Since Levy Passage

Lakota schools recently celebrated National Digital Learning Day through a variety of activities, all focused on using technology to bolster learning. In fact, there were so many related events, the district had to expand it to an entire week.

Digital Learning Day is a worldwide celebration that revolves around sharing ideas for how to apply technology to student learning. Lakota teachers across all grade levels and disciplines are designing, teaching and sharing lessons that use technology to enhance student learning.

Lakota's weeklong celebration of Digital Learning Day includes students collaborating on assignments with their teachers and peers through technology, showcasing student-created projects on technology, learning how to properly use newer technology, creating opportunities for younger classes to work with older classes through video conferencing and many more engaging lessons designed by Lakota teachers.

"This provides an opportunity for our entire district to recognize and celebrate our digital learning accomplishments, showcase the great work our teachers and students are doing with technology on a daily basis, and learn from other districts across the nation," said Krista Heidenreich, Lakota's Director of Digital Learning. "The instructional strategies and tools our team is supporting align with the national technology standards as well as the Ohio department of education technology standards."

She adds, "As exciting and engaging as these opportunities are for our students, we also recognize how important it is for students to learn how to use technology to master skills they'll use in any path they chose. These include things like time management, organization and planning, and group work."

And the many activities undertaken by the schools emphasize such components. For example, at VanGorden Elementary, Lisa Freeman's class

High School, is designed to provide interested candidates with a one-stop shop for information related to a wide range of school positions.

"We are committed to educating our community about just how many opportunities there are to do work that makes a difference in kids' lives," said Lakota's Executive Director of Human Resources Rob Kramer.

Currently, Lakota's workforce is made up of about 1,700 teachers and support staff to help meet the diverse needs of its 16,500 students. Kramer says a wide variety of teaching and support position will be represented at the job exploration and networking event, to match the variety of openings he anticipates going into the summer hiring season.

"Our schools are a great place to introduce students to an environment that closely matches the diverse workforce they'll enter one day," Kramer said. "Embracing diversity, inclusion and respect is a hallmark of Lakota's curriculum and staffing practices. We are eager to meet candidates who would like to invest in our future."

Employment opportunities range from substitutes to full- and part-time employment, in some cases offering a more flexible work schedule for candidates seeking a second income, a fulfilling job during retirement, or any other circumstances that may require balance between work and family life.

Attendees are invited speak directly with current staff members who can help answer questions about their experience working for Lakota Schools.

"The idea is not for this to serve as an on-the-spot interview," Kramer said. "More than anything, we want people to come with questions and leave with answers and a better understanding of the great opportunities Lakota has to offer."

Before or after the event, interested candidates are invited to view current openings and submit an application at www.lakotaonline.com/employment. Technology will also be available on site for those candidates who wish to complete an electronic application during the expo.

accessed Word through Office 365 so they could work on their projects at home and at school. The 6th grade team completed a Power Point assignment through Canvas using the Rubric feature to grade those projects resulting in an entirely paperless project

Endeavor Elementary teachers Terrie Williamson and Chris Mays had students utilize the Seesaw digital portfolio system for biography research projects while Stephany Burnett's students completed a world religions project through Canvas where students made use of an embedded Symbaloo (a bookmark and research resource), collaborative discussion boards, check point submissions and a final Office 365/Power Point collaborative project.

Even Lakota's youngest students participated in Digital Learning Week activities. At Shawnee ECS Kkindergartners in Alyssa Douglas's class used Skype to learn ASL from students in Jessica Frye's ASL class at Lakota West while at Liberty ECS students used iPads with QR codes to listen to stories, practiced typing sight word sentences in the computer lab, used Seesaw to document artwork and used the internet to explore music cultures around the world.

One of the newer digital tools Lakota is using is a learning management system. This new online platform allows teachers to provide expanded content and collaboration opportunities that mimic what students will experience in college or a career after leaving Lakota. In just the first month of second semester, Lakota has seen over 114,000 logins to its learning management system.

An external audit of Lakota's instructional technology back in 2012 resulted in a multi-year plan that became a levy promise.

"While we initially acknowledged Digital Learning Day in 2012, it was through the community's support that we have been able to expand the celebration into a true annual district-wide event," said Todd Wesley, Lakota's Chief Technology Officer.

The levy funds allowed Lakota to rebuild its aging technology infrastructure and provide modern devices and software. A dedicated team of digital learning specialists was the other piece that supported teachers in actually using the new tools most effectively to impact student learning.

"While technology continues to increase in classrooms across the country, it has been our teachers efforts with the Digital Learning Team that continue to positively impact Lakota's student learning," said Wesley.

Around Lakota

School Spotlights

Students Take the Stage for Upcoming Theatre Productions

Lakota East: Stephen Sondheim's Into the Woods

Sondheim's gorgeous, well-known music combines with the twisted fairy tales of the Brothers Grimm in this dramatic musical. Cinderella, Little Red Riding Hood, Jack and his beanstalk, Rapunzel, Sleeping Beauty, and Snow White are in the dark woods of the Brothers Grimm where a childless baker and his wife find out that their family has been cursed. The witch next door reveals the curse and poses a challenge to get the curse reversed. They are to find a cow as white as milk, a cape as red as blood, hair as yellow as corn, and a slipper as pure as gold. Their journey takes them through the woods and through the darkness of the human heart.

Show times for Into the Woods at Lakota East High School's Liberty Theatre:

March 17 and 18 at 7:00 p.m.

March 19 at 2:00 p.m.

March 23, 24 and 25 at 7:00 p.m.

All tickets are $10. Tickets can be purchased at the door, or regular price tickets can be purchased online at www.seatyourself.biz/lakotaeasthigh. Note: This show is based on the fairy tales of the Brothers Grimm, which are meant to be frightening. Traditionally, the recommendation with this show is that if you have small children, stay for the first act, and leave at intermission, while everything is at a "happy ending." During the second act, the giant takes her revenge on the fairy tale characters, and things get scary.

Lakota West: Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat

The Biblical saga of Joseph and his coat of many colors comes to vibrant life in this delightful musical parable. Joseph, his father's favorite son, is a boy blessed with prophetic dreams. When he is sold into slavery by his jealous brothers and taken to Egypt, Joseph endures a series of adventures in which his spirit and humanity are continually challenged. He is purchased by Potiphar where thwarting advances from Potiphar's wife lands him in jail. When news of Joseph's gift to interpret dreams reaches the Pharaoh (wryly and riotously depicted as Elvis), Joseph is well on his way to becoming second in command. Eventually his brothers, having suffered greatly, unknowingly find themselves groveling at the feet of the brother they betrayed but no longer recognize. After testing their integrity, Joseph reveals himself leading to a heartfelt reconciliation of the sons of Israel. Set to an engaging cornucopia of musical styles, from country-western and calypso to bubble-gum pop and rock 'n' roll, this Old Testament tale emerges both timely and timeless.

Show times:

March 24 and 25 at 7:30 p.m.

March 26 at 2:00 p.m.

March 30 through April 1 at 7:30 p.m.

General tickets are $13

Tickets are on sale now; all seats are $10 and can be purchased online at ticketpeak.com/res/plainslionking. Please call 513-260-3141 with any questions.

Show times:

- March 31 at 7:30 p.m.
- April 1 at 3:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.
- April 2 at 3:00 p.m.

Lakota Ridge Junior: The Wonderful Wizard of Oz

Ridge Junior will be presenting The Wonderful Wizard of Oz by Tim Kelly on the following dates:

- April 4 and 5 at 7:00 p.m. (doors open at 6:30 p.m.)
- Lakota West Freshman Auditorium

Reserved seat tickets are on sale now for $8 at <http://lrjhdrama.seatyourself.biz>.

So many students tried out for the play that each night will feature different cast members. The drama club has been working really hard to memorize, work with microphones and create their costumes for the play and can't wait to see you out in the audience.

Shawnee ECS Celebrates Read Across America Day

National Read Across America Day was on Wednesday and Shawnee Early Childhood School celebrated it in a big way, turning it into a full week of fun activities.

The first Read Across America Day was held in 1998 and always falls on March 2, the birthday of Dr. Seuss. At Shawnee, each day of the week was filled with events put together by the school's Reading and ESL teams. Their goal was to create special moments that the students could look back on forever as one of their cherished memories at Shawnee. And judging from the smiling faces during the week, the teams met that goal.

On Cat in the Hat Day, students wore a hat or stripes and each class decorated their door with the Dr. Seuss theme. On Fox in Sox Day, students wore crazy socks and made a bookmark to give to a reading buddy in another class.

"This week was a celebration of our love for reading," said Shawnee Principal Theresa Brock. "Students had the opportunity to decorate classroom doors, create bookmarks, enjoy reading with buddy readers in other classrooms/grade levels, and then we read together as a whole school for a 'stop and read' across Shawnee. The activities encouraged, supported and engaged students as they become avid readers!"

To culminate the week, Shawnee held Read Across Shawnee Day on Friday, where all students filled the hallways and they sat down and read together.

Lakota East Students Advance to District Rotary Speech Competition

Lakota East recently swept the local try-outs for the Rotary 4-Way Speech Competition leading to all 4 finalists being represented by Thunderhawks. And, thanks to their strong showing, two Lakota East students will advance to the district competition slated for early April.

Congratulations to sophomore Dante Eads and senior Nick Wade who earned first and second places, respectively. Rounding out the top four finalists were senior Sarah Aftab, third place, and sophomore Evan Yablonsky, fourth place.

"It was an awesome job by the students and their teachers," stated Brian Miller, president/CEO of Mach 4 and Rotarian. "These were the best speaking students I have ever listened to!"

According to Steve Silverberg, chair of the speech committee, "I want to congratulate all the students for their courage and determination with our Rotary 4-way speech contest. The energy and excitement from the students was contagious to all that were involved."

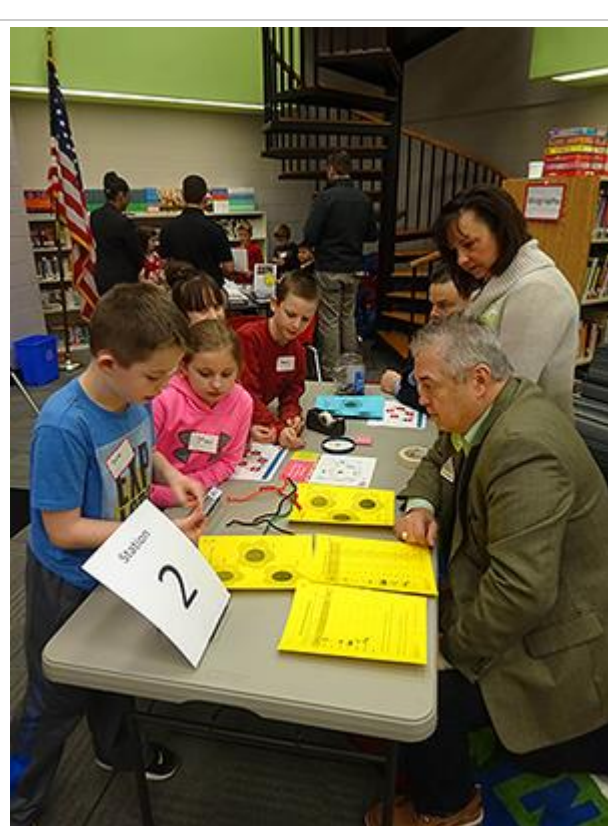

He noted that Lakota East had nine students participate in the contest – the most from any school. Also competing from East were Jalen Alford, Nkem Azuka, Karen Choi, Rylin Parsell and Reo Robinson.

Rotary International adopted the Four-Way Test as a measure for Rotarian interactions at work and in their personal lives. Anyone can make sure whatever he or she is about to do or add to a conversation is appropriate and helpful while thinking through the four questions of: "Is it the truth? Is it fair to all concerned? Will it build goodwill and better friendships? Will it be beneficial to all concerned?"

The annual speech contest is a chance for students to apply the test to their personal lives and experiences while also addressing concepts such as leadership and service to others. For years, in a memorized four to six-minute speech, students have shared how the Four-Way Test applied to their service projects at school or church, or how it helped them become better students academically or how it was true in interactions with siblings and friends.

Local Business Leaders Visit Heritage, Get Inside Look at Lakota

Heritage Elementary recently hosted nearly 30 members of the business community participating in the West Chester Liberty Chamber Alliance's Leadership21 program. The visit was part of the group's February focus on educational institutions serving our community.

Students across all grade levels at Heritage kicked off the visit with stations that demonstrated their work in the school's STEAM lab. Business leaders visited with groups of students for an interactive look at projects that had forced students to expand their skills in problem solving, critical thinking and teamwork – all pillars of the STEAM labs popping up in Lakota's elementary schools.

"It was reaffirming to hear from business people, across all different sectors, that the skills our students were demonstrating very much mirrored what they're seeking from their own employees," said Heritage Principal Missy Alexander. "And the students just love showing off what they've learned and answering questions about how they landed where they did."

The group rounded out their visit with a roundtable discussion with Acting Superintendent Robb Vogelmann and a lesson in public school financing from Lakota Treasurer Jenni Logan.

"There's so much more than meets the eye when it comes to school funding, so we never pass up an opportunity to pull back the curtain and help our community understand just how complex and sometimes unpredictable it can be," Logan said.

"We have a great story to share for how far we've come in recent years to gain financial stability and still produce valuable opportunities for our students," Logan continued. "We hope that's a message our friends in the business community will help us share."

Credit Means Recent Fee Reduction Impacts More Students

Lakota junior high and high school students, who participated in a sport, band, or color guard this past fall, will be receiving a monetary credit to apply to any future Lakota school fee.

The credit follows the Lakota school board's decision earlier this school year to lower such fees and the annual family cap. Rather than waiting until next school year, the district expedited the reduction for a more immediate benefit to students participating in winter and spring activities. The leading intent was to encourage increased participation in extra-curricular activities.

Since then, the district had time to analyze the financial impact of extending the fee reduction to students who participated in fall activities, too.

On March 9, several Lakota High School seniors will share their perspective during student panel night. The presentation is an opportunity for underclassmen and junior high students to ask questions about all aspects of high school: academics, sports, clubs, extracurricular activities and more.

The event is geared toward students in grades 6-8 and their families, however all are welcome to attend. The panel, which is hosted by Lakota's Gifted Services, will be held from 7-8 p.m. at the Lakota Central Office, 5572 Princeton Road. Click here for a flyer with more details.

Parents, Community Welcome at March Student Fanfare Events

Lakota's new series of community fanfare events is proving so popular with students and community members that all 22 schools are now on the schedule. The concept is a simple one: Line the school's entrance and give students high-fives and words of encouragement as they're filing into school. The new tradition aims to provide students with a visual display of all their supporters during times like testing and the start of a new semester, for example.

All are welcome! Join us for one or more of the fanfares scheduled for March:

“The time lapse also helped us to work through the complexities of issuing credits in a fair manner to families where such variables as scholarships, the new family cap, and even multiple sports impacted the amount of their refund,” said Lakota Treasurer Jenni Logan.

The credit – amounting to $150 per sport for junior high students and $200 per activity for high school students – will show up as a credit in any eligible student’s EZ Pay account by the end of March. The credit can be applied to any school-assessed fee.

Seniors who will graduate in May 2017 and do not use the issued credit will be the only group to receive a refund.

To potentially expand the footprint of the reduction and promote increased participation in all activities for more students, the board continues to review and consider potential changes to the fee structure for other student opportunities, too.

Students Invited to Enter the Write Challenge Contest

Is your student a budding Shakespeare? Or the next J.K. Rowling? Then, have him or her put pen to paper for this year’s Write Challenge.

Hosted by Lakota’s Enrichment and Academic Development of Students (LEADS), the Write Challenge is an annual writing contest for all Lakota students grades K-12. Students can submit an essay, narrative, poem or all three – as long as the writing has not been published previously.

This year’s theme is RISK. Making a new friend, traveling to an exotic location, auditioning for something, investing money, even driving a car — large or small, risk is a part of life. Students may interpret the topic however they like, just remember to follow the writing guidelines on the entry form.

Entries are due March 31 and must be submitted electronically in Microsoft Word format for grades 3-12 (entries in the K-2 categories may be handwritten and scanned if necessary). Students and families can learn more about the Challenge at <http://www.lakotaleads.org/>.

Nominations Sought for District Barb Bossu Volunteer Spirit Award

Nominations are being accepted now through March 27 for the 2017 district Barb Bossu Volunteer Spirit award. Everyone is encouraged to take a moment to consider nominating a volunteer who is making positive things happen in the district. It is your opportunity to demonstrate your appreciation for the volunteers that truly make Lakota a special place to educate children.

Barb Bossu was an enthusiastic parent volunteer and the Union Elementary PTA president at the time of her death. The Volunteer Spirit Award was established in 1990 to commemorate her very special dedication to public education by honoring a volunteer each year from every school as well as a district volunteer in the Lakota district. The recipient should represent a positive spirit of dedication toward the betterment of our children. All of these special volunteers are honored at a district-wide ceremony close to the end of the school year.

Please click here for the 2017 Barb Bossu district nomination form. Use this nomination form to recognize a volunteer who is making a positive impact in our district where students are impacted, and who gives their time unselfishly to the Lakota district. Nominations for school volunteer awards will be announced by each school so check for those deadlines and submission details.

Email completed district nomination forms to Krysta Weizman at kweizman@gmail.com by March 27.

High Interest Spurs Addition of College S.A.F.E. Class

Public Affairs Officer Michelle Berling of the West Chester Police Department says that, based on the interest in the classes, another College S.A.F.E. class has been added.

The police department offers the free program that focuses on teaching practical skills for campus safety to female high school seniors and recent graduates. The class, which is held in cooperation with Lakota Schools, is designed to provide first-time college students with the tools to help them protect and defend themselves from possible threats. S.A.F.E. (Self-defense and Awareness through Fundamental Education), was created as a result of requests from parents and with input from faculty of Lakota Schools.

The focus is on prevention, sharing what they can do to prevent any personal crime and then, if necessary, how to defend themselves. The majority of the time is spent in rigorous self-defense

- Explore macroinvertebrates under a magnifying glass
- Touch a human brain
- Try your hand at robotics
- Shoot an arrow and explore the laws of physics
- Race your friends in Tangrams
