

From A Shy Student To Principal, Carroll Has Enjoyed Great Success

TUPELO, Miss. — Christy Carroll has spent 15 wonderful years with the Tupelo Public School District, including the last 10 as Carver’s principal.

Despite growing up in Corinth as a shy student who didn’t love school, she knew she wanted to be an educator and make a difference in the way children view education. Her biggest wish is for the children to love coming to school.

She went to both Blue Mountain College and Ole Miss, collecting a specialist degree in Educational Leadership.

If she hadn’t been a teacher, which there was a very little chance, she may have dabbled in some interior design.

As important as education is, family is even more so. She and her husband, Tony, have three children — Jay, Nick and Hillary — as well as six grandchildren and a Maltipoo furbaby, Heidi.

With her daughter’s husband in the military, she gets an exciting new vacation destination every few years when they relocate.

Her must-have food choices are bananas and oranges, and the last thing she’ll eat is a loaf of bread.

This week’s TPSD Administrative Focus and winner of a Buffalo Wild Wings gift card is Christy Carroll of Carver Elementary.
