Dear Archbishop Riordan High School Community,

It is with great enthusiasm that the Archdiocese of San Francisco announces the appointment of Mr. Tim Reardon as the new President of Archbishop Riordan High School. Mr. Reardon's appointment comes after a rigorous search process and months of discernment. The process confirmed that Mr. Reardon has the qualities that best meet the needs of ARHS at this vital juncture in the school's history.

Feedback was gathered from all Archbishop Riordan High School constituents related to the characteristics of an ideal President and the critical areas of focus for the school. Mr. Reardon has demonstrated his leadership skills both in the Principal's role and as interim President. He is a leader who cares deeply about students, faculty, and staff. Mr. Reardon will also bring a sense of stability at a vital juncture for ARHS as the school continues through a significant transition.

In the forefront of the Committee's consideration was ARHS's unique identity as a Catholic, Marianist institution. As a committed Riordan educator and leader, Mr. Reardon truly embraces this Catholic, Marianist identity based on his personal lived experience and work at ARHS. Under Mr. Reardon's leadership, Archbishop Riordan High School will continue to be a leader in the spiritual, educational, and social development of the young men and women they serve.

The Archdiocese of San Francisco thanks you all for your commitment and support of Archbishop Riordan High School. A very special thank you to the President Search Committee for their work throughout this process. We look forward to our continued work with Mr. Reardon and the entire ARHS community.

Sincerely,

Pamela Lyons
Superintendent of Schools
