OSHKOSH AREA SCHOOL DISTRICT PROJECT PROGRESS REPORT

WHAT'S NEW?

In March, Bray Architects and District staff made great strides in developing the new middle school design. The interior and exterior developments of this building are built off of the concept of 'Unity,' as this new middle school truly unifies two buildings into one. Conversations regarding unity and what it means for the community have been ongoing and will be further implemented into the building design.

One of the exciting conversations in the works regarding unity is what will the new middle school be named? Look for more information on this as the months progress.

PLANNING & DESIGN UPDATE

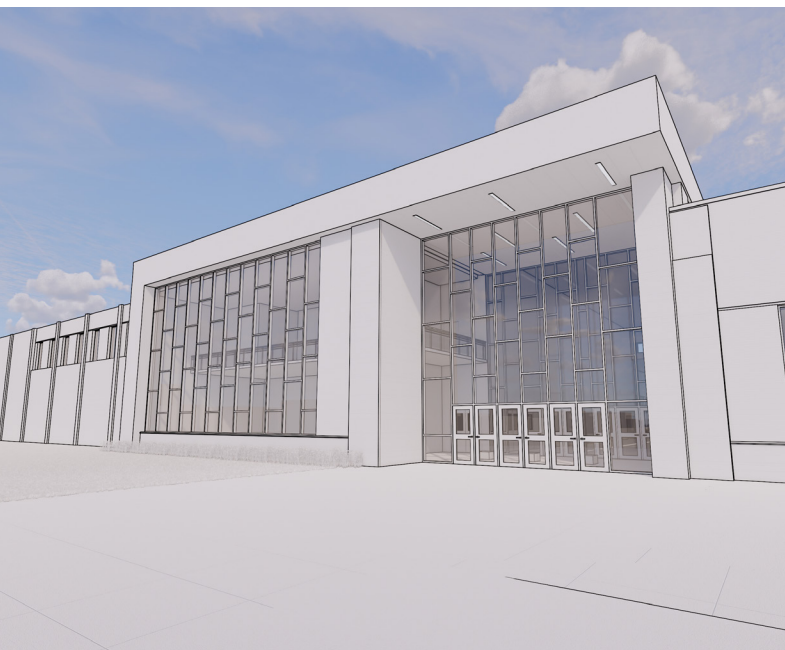

Design and documentation of the five secure entry projects will be complete as of April 1. Contractors will start preparing for the public bid opening in late April.

For the middle school, the concept of 'Unity' has been the focus of design conversations, as Bray Architects begins conceptualizing how the interior and exterior architecture will look and feel.

Refer to the following renderings for the conceptual designs of the new middle school.

WHAT'S NEXT?

- » Bray Architects and Kapur engineers will work with city administration to discuss site considerations such as parking and landscape requirements.
- » Exterior design development is still underway as renderings of the building are conceptualized.
- » User group meetings with staff and community members continue to refine the spaces within the building.
