Wendell Phillips is a K-6 school in the Kansas City Public Schools system that believes in and practices the philosophy of literacy for all children. We believe in educating our children to the best of our ability, thereby allowing us to provide a service to children, our community and our country.

Although reading, writing, arithmetic and communication skills are basic requirements, we believe the purpose of the school should extend beyond academics. We also believe that we must cultivate the abilities of our children to think, reason and adapt as life-long learners.

Community-Driven Education

We believe in teaching our children personal and moral values as a responsibility to their families and other social institutions through association with other students, faculty and the community.

We are committed to helping all students develop a healthy self-concept, enabling them to think and act for themselves and to develop leadership potential.
