

Welcome To Our Parent Center

Parent, family and community involvement in education correlates with higher academic performance and school improvement. When schools, parents, families and communities work together to support learning, students tend to earn higher grades attend school more regularly, stay in school longer and enroll in higher level programs. Researchers cite parent-family community involvement as a key to addressing the school dropout crisis and note that strong school-family-community partnerships foster higher educational aspirations and more motivated students.

The evidence holds true for students at both the elementary and secondary level, regardless of the parent's education, family income or background—and the research shows parent involvement affects minority students' academic achievement across all races. Supporting teaching and learning requires addressing students' social service needs as well as their academic ones and this broad-based support is essential to closing achievement gaps. The positive impact of connecting community resources with student needs is well documented. In fact, community support of the educational process is considered one of the characteristics common to high-performing schools.
