Additional Information for Students with Special Circumstances:

Additionally, please note that If you or your family's financial situation has changed significantly from what is reflected on your federal income tax return (for example, if you've lost a job or otherwise experienced a drop in income), you may be eligible to have your financial aid awards adjusted. These adjustments could result in favorable changes to your Federal Pell Grant eligibility as well as other need-based student aid. Additionally, these adjustments could result in a more advantageous position with your HEERF III awarding profile.

What to do if, as explained, you or your family's financial situation has changed significantly:

Complete or re-submit the FAFSA as instructed on the application (including the transfer of tax return and income information), submit/re-submit your FAFSA form, then contact the financial aid office to discuss how your current financial situation has changed.

The financial aid office is in the process of conducting direct outreach to financial aid applicants about the opportunity to receive a financial aid adjustment. However, if you feel that a review of your special circumstance should be reviewed immediately, please email the financial aid office at:

financialaid@fisher.edu.

Note that the school's decision is final and cannot be appealed to the U.S. Department of Education.
