Spent Enjoyable 3 Days In Harrisburg for Affair

Jean Shell and Jeanette Barley, members of the senior high girls chorus, attended the Southern District Chorus, at Harrisburg recently. They stayed at Miss Derrick's home in Middletown.

It was necessary for the girls to register at the William Penn High School on Thursday morning. After that most of the time was spent practicing for their musical presentation held Saturday night.

Friday afternoon they gave an assembly for the students at the high school. After more practice and dinner in the evening all the members of the chorus were entertained at a dance.

Saturday morning the student practiced again. Members of the St. Matthew's Church had lunch for the music students and in at theatres in Harrisburg. Again in the evening St. Matthew's Church held a concert for the students.

At 8:00 the final concert was held, with Dr. Clyde Douglas of Upper Darby High School, directing.

Music Students Present Assembly Program

Various Soloists Took Part In Splendid Program

An instrumental assembly was given Friday, January 10. This assembly was given for the purpose of entertainment and to accustom the students to various combinations of instruments.

The program included two flute duets, "Marie Elena" by Russel and "The ToyMaker's Dream" by Ernie Golden. They were played by Gloria Holtzhauer and Martha Rex. A string trio of Anna Mae Burkholder, Joanne Brubaker and Anna Mae Holtzhauer played an arrangement by Ted Koehler, "Stormy Weather."

The students were pleasantly surprised when Mr. Shields showed his skill with the clarinet. He was accompanied by Mr. Durrell Hollinger, principal of the Willow Street School. They played "Miami Moon" composed by John DeBueris and "Air Varié" by H. Painpaie.

Introduce Prescott System to Students

Perhaps you have heard instrumental pupils commenting on the Prescott System. You may wonder just what system this is.

It was arranged by Gerald Prescott from the University of Minnesota. He read method books for all instruments and then outlined them into a twelve year course of study.

The Prescott system is so well planned that it is independent of a teacher. After completing a year's work awards are given. This is to stimulate competition among the students.

At the present time Herr Shank ranks first, Paul Frey and Shirley Mylin second, and Anna Mae Burkholder third.

DO YOU KNOW THEM?

In this issue the We La Hi Times is starting something new. We are giving you a chance to find out how well you know your schoolmates.

A fair haired, versatile sophomoricity and full of limitless pep and energy. An able cheerleader on the J. V. squad. This young lady is usually seen with a certain freshman on the varsity basketball team. She is a definite asset to any girl's team and also a great help to the Thalian Society. She had the lead in their Christmas play.

A lad of the sophomore class who can be recognized by his light hair and freckles. He insists quite emphatically that he does not lisp, but other students seem to disagree. He is a capable guard of the J. V. basketball team and is one of the four masculine members of the Thalian Society. It could be said that French is one of his pet peeves.

A blonde good looking member of the senior class whose charms are noticed even by some of the junior and sophomore classes. He is a witty joker with a good sense of humor and seems to get much pleasure from teasing girls. He is the musclebound captain of the varsity team who plays a very nice game of ball as guard.

Of these three students you should know all. In case you don't, you will find their names at the end of this column.

Freshman Class Is Winner of Party For Selling Tickets

Students Plan To Bury Time Capsule at School

We take our hats off to our freshmen for winning the "Blow Out" promised to them by the Athletic Association for selling the most season tickets. The Freshmen are busy making plans for their assembly in February, which will be based on "Valentines." Their history class is planning to place a "Time Capsule" somewhere in the school yards. Enclosed in it will be fashions, bits of news, names of persons attending this school now, and other similar facts. Twenty to thirty years from now they want this capsule to be dug up and compared with facts of the day.

Scholarships Available Senior Class Members

Information May Be Had From Mr. Adams

The class of '47" missed quite an opportunity when no one made an effort to attain the Westinghouse Science Scholarship which is no longer available. But be alert you Science wizzards, the Bausch and Lomb Science award, which is given to the best Science student from the Senior class each year gives the winner an opportunity to try out for a scholarship to the University of Rochester. For further information see Mr. Stapleton.

Beaver College Scholarships valued at $500 to $1,000 respectively, are offered for senior girls on the basis of scores made on the Scholastic Aptitude Test. These tests will be given at different centers throughout the U. S. Musical scholarships of $1,000 for piano and organ are also awarded. Different requirements must be met for both instruments.

One hundred and twenty-one Americans will receive, early in 1947, Pepsi Cola scholarships good for four full years at any accredited university in the U. S. Candidates must be selected by the class.

Five hundred and five additional awards of $50 each will be given also.

Further information to the latter two scholarships can be obtained from Mr. Adams.

We-La-Hi Times Winter Dance Carnival Was a Big Success

Nancy Witmer Named For D. A. R. Contests

Nancy Witmer was voted the outstanding senior citizen by her classmates, which entitles her to the D.A.R. award. This award is given by the Daughters of the American Revolution to that person who has shown these four qualities while in high school: service, patriotism, dependability, and character.

She will receive the D.A.R. medal and certificate at commencement. This award also entitles her to take a test on American history and current events. Should she win this test she will be given a trip to Washington, D. C., with all expenses paid.

Juniors Are Expecting Class Rings Soon

Plan To Present Play During Month of March

"Oh I wish they would hurry up and come! When will they come? I can't wait!" These remarks and similar others are being repeated by our impatient juniors as they await the arrival of their class rings. The rings are supposed to come sometime in January. They are still working on their assembly program which was cancelled until February 7. A committee has been appointed to look for and select a play for the Junior Play to be presented in March. The Juniors are also thinking seriously of persons for the different positions on the year book staff.

Year Books Go To Press

It's no wonder our seniors are complaining of having "senioritis," for they have been quite busy lately. Their yearbook, on which they have all worked hard, will be going to press late in January. They are also working on their assembly program.

A temporary itinerary has been planned for the Senior Trip this spring. On February 22, they hope to have a crowd at the Senior Supper in the high school gym.

So often in this World a narrow mind and a wide mouth go together.

The first dance of the season was a huge success. The We La Hi Times dance committee arranged for the Manor Jazz Bar to be here and it was heard remarked that they were playing at their best.

The decoration theme carried out was one, of course, depicting winter. Green pine and cedar trees were covered with sparkling white snow. Lights were turned low and through it all Jean Shell and Clyde Ulmer honored the crowd by doing their latest jitterbug steps.

Pat Keener and Bonnie Sheaffer seemed to enjoy the slow dreamy music best. As for Barbara Kreider, Bob Mellis, Patsy Shell, all the fellows strictly in the gymnasium.

A multiplication of prizes announced by the schoolmaster directed two very lucky winners, six Bachelors.

During intermission the bar was completely packed by a crowd, all waiting and doughnuts at the sale. Dolores Taylor ate at least a dozen doughnuts. After that she bothered to count them.

Helen Lutz and her McClellan date sat out most of the dances. But they made up for during the slow ones.

New Faculty Member Named to Staff

The new Junior class advisor hails from Mt. Joy. His full name is Kenneth Harry Snyder. Mr. Snyder taught at Mt. Joy prior to 18 months he spent in the Philippines where he served as Staff Sergeant in the U. S. Army.

It is said his pet peeve is his wife's unwillingness to attend movies with him. He says "She hates movies," but they thoroughly enjoy jitterbugging together and their favorite band leader Benny Goodman. His favorite pastime is playing bridge. I know he likes a particular waltz number but he can't remember the name.

Our school for the first time has started a Junior High basketball team. Mr. Snyder is serving as coach. If the team promises to be a success the Junior High team will be entered in a league next year.

A Word to the Wise is Sufficient

This certainly should be applied to the students who continually try to get away with things at school. You hurt others in doing mischeivous acts; sometimes they are malicious. But most of all you hurt yourself.. It reflects on your character.

You have to live with yourself and no one can ease a guilty conscience but oneself. You can however, not be a wrong.

It isn't necessary to greet a friend by bumping him on the floor. You can just as easily say Hi, Jane! there, Jim.

Opening lockers is another bad habit some of the have acquired. You certainly cannot get any fun seeing someone's books go tumbling on the floor. You have a destitute mind.

It can be constructive as far as school is concerned. You see papers on the floor, pick them up; put your homeroom in order, especially chair arrangement. Take care of your school books, they are important. If you do these things, instead of destroying things, we'll wager you'll get a lot more out of school life.

Cupid's Hey Day Near At Hand

The festival of hearts, the day of romance is the fourteenth day of February known as St. Valentine's Day.

Today it is a time of social pleasantry with parties and exchanging of Valentines. In the olden times however, the customs of Valentine's day were taken quite seriously by young men and women. It was a saying in that day, that birds chose their mates, and it was also a belief that the first person of the opposite sex that one met on that day was to be one's Valentine for the year.

Sometimes the young people held a "Lottery" on St. Valentines' eve, when the names of the girls were put into a box and were later drawn by the young men. Each pair would exchange gifts and would be Valentines for the year.

As for St. Valentine he apparently had nothing to do with the ideas and customs observed on Valentine's Day. There are seven St. Valentines listed in the "Acts of the Saints" and February 14 is the Saint's day for them all.

Behind The Eight Ball

Heading the list of all these lucky people in the Super Sleuth's column is none other than Bill Beichler who thinks eating light bulbs is very healthful for one's existence. Ask any senior boy in case you don't believe it. Can you guess what Harold Meck means when he says, "Oh! That night life." Now Betty! Jake Sheaffer seems to know how to take care of a girl--mistletoe situation. At least Bonnie thinks so. Pat Shell has a big question on her mind about Gerald Binkley. Or at any rate that is what the song, "I Don't Know Why" states. Say Ed Apple, do you give out nice compliments to all the girls you pass in the hall, or just the kind like Janet Greer? No, it isn't a cowboy passing by, it is just Dick Rummel with cleats on his shoes. Who has Mary Ann Hunt been saving a seat on the bus for at basketball games. It couldn't be for a certain J. V. player, namely Harold Werner. Congratulations Rohrer on that red reindeer sweater. The girls are bound to see you now. Nancy Witmer have you found out what Jake Sheaffer was looking for in English class. To put your troubled mind at ease, it was nothing more than a penny. Janet Miller is little but mighty when it comes to getting rough with fellows on the bus. Don't you think so Dick Stafsh? In case anyone is wondering why Ginny Reed has her arms around her self when she wears that yellow sweater, it can be easily answered by Frank Sheaffer. It was a pleasant surprise to receive a bracelet from Donnie Eckman, wasn't it Ardis Groff. There is a comparison between Frank Sinatra and Mr. Stapleton. Now don't get the wrong idea, we don't mean the vocal cords, we mean the jazz-bow. Sharp! Isn't it? Since when has Clyde Ulmer become a preacher? Steady now, we're not kidding. We don't think so anyway. As we passed by the gym doors we saw Ronald McFalls busily engaged in a conversation with Esther Smith. Now! Now! What ever causes Bob Dombach to take such an interest in the Manor High School. Joanne, a Manor High School student can answer that. How about it Bob. Honestly, Jackie Skethway, we won't tell a single soul you went home with Hen Groff on Friday after the basketball game. Students, the next time Dolores Taylor gets her hair cut, please tell

Discipline Necessary At School

This article is inspired by the numerous comments we hear about the disciplinary control of children. During the school day the parents entrusts his child to the care of a teacher. This means that the teacher, for a time being, is in "Loco Parentis," and is in charge of children, and should exercise carefully the same degree of care that a parent ought to show. Because of that relation, the teacher must necessarily exercise authority over the pupils in many ways concerning which the stature or the board may have remained silent.

In the school, as in the family, there exists on the part of the pupils the obligation of obedience to legitimate commands, respect for the rights of other pupils, and regard for duty.

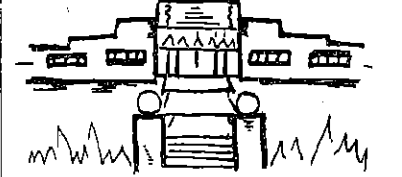

The teacher is responsible for the disciplinary control of his pupils, and for their progress and deportment. He therefore has the inherent right to make rules which will regulate the children's activity. To be enabled to discharge his duties effectually, the teacher must necessarily have the right to enforce prompt obedience to his lawful commands. For this reason, the law, by order of the courts, gives him the right, in certain cases, to inflict corporal punishment upon delinquent pupils. This however, must be done without malice or hate.

The teacher is an executive representative of the school department of government, and, as such, must enforce order and decorum in his school. Consequently, a teacher may exercise such powers of control, restraint, and correction over his pupils as may be necessary to enable him to perform properly his duties as a teacher.

The teacher understands this part of his duty and is attempting to perform a task honestly. I am also certain that the parent is in sympathy with the teacher in understanding that sound disciplinary control is necessary to have a good classroom situation.

But, the situation should not get this far. It should not be necessary to constantly admonish children. Our chief problem is to guide, seek out qualities of leadership, develop mental capacities, and challenge the best that is in children. This means that parents too, have an obligation and responsibility to mould character. The school has been forced, largely perhaps by circumstances of war, to assume responsibilities which rightfully belong to the parent. For example, right habits of conduct are established in children, we are told, before the age of two. Parents must also teach right from wrong, and above all, take the time within the family circle to teach

Our high school sophomores have been planning their assembly program at their recent meetings. They have also discussed ordering class caps and pennants.

the moral Christian virtues.

With parent and school working mutually interdependent habits of right conduct can be established. It is not the school's problem alone, it is not the parent's problem alone. It is our problem. Then why don't we do it?

So, a child does not come to school to be punished—he comes to school to be guided. Let's get on with the business of education.

As the second week in December rolled around, the students began looking forward to basketball during the activity period.

Being excited and tense, and with the side lines coaching, the first game proceeded — the Debs vs. Sure Shots. The first game was won by the Debs. This game was a forfeit since the Sure Shots did not have enough players on the floor.

Next: Sure Shots vs. Fire Fighters. A tense, thrilling game for each team for when the whistle blew the score was tied 5 to 5. The following Monday, January 6, the spectators found the Sure Shots and Fire Fighters fighting for the highest score. A few foul shots and a basket or two for each team and the score was 9 to 11 with the Fire Fighters suffering a loss.
