

The Classrooms

Some of the most distinctive architectural features on campus are the property's original wood-shingled farmhouse, which was renovated to house our preschool. Our elementary grades classroom buildings use rammed earth in the interior walls. Their massive walls, formed of native California clays, provide a passive solar affect. With their beautiful swirled layers in natural earth tones, the walls also serve as integral works of art, encouraging a sense of connectedness to the earth.

