Cyberfraud will always be around. Thankfully, so will we.

TD Fraud Control Services

Are you concerned about cyberfraud? You’re not alone.

In a new survey from TD Bank and Strategic Treasurer, 57% of all corporate respondents—and 81% of banks—ranked cyberfraud as the top concern.

The best way to ease these worries is to take steps to protect your business now, before an attack happens.

The risk is always present.

You can’t predict when or how your business will be targeted. But there are specific things you can do to reduce the chances of a fraud attempt becoming a fraud loss. To reduce cyberattacks and payments fraud, everyone in the business financial loop—financial institutions, third-party payment processors and companies like yours—must play a role.

One of the most critical factors is your people, often referred to as “the human firewall.” Fraud awareness training for employees is very effective in the fight against crime, especially when coupled with knowledge assessments and repetition, according to a recent study by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA).
