Course Selection Guide

for the 2022-23 School Year

St. Andrew's encourages students to fully engage their passions and interests as they build a stimulating, well-rounded, liberal arts course plan. This guide will help you fit your course choices with the requirements of our academic program.

All course plans should be discussed and reviewed by parents, advisors, academic advisors, teachers, and college counselors, where appropriate. The Dean of Studies and Academic Committee will give final approval to each student's course selection.

You can find an online version of this booklet, and detailed descriptions of all courses, on the school website at www.standrews-de.org/course-reg.

Key Steps of the Course Selection Process

- 1) Please read through the maximum and minimum courseloads for each Form year (listed below) and graduation requirements for each department (listed on page 10).
- 2) Use the Four-Year Course Planning Worksheet on page 11 to map out your likely courses over the next several years, then use the Course Selection Worksheet on page 12 to identify your choices for next year's classes (maximum of six per semester).
- 3) Your advisor, academic advisor, and parents must approve your course selections. Additionally, V Form students must also have approval from their college counselors.
- 4) When you have selected your courses, you will then fill out the online version of your Course Selection Worksheet. A link to this online registration form will be shared with you via email.

Minimum & Maximum Courseloads Per Year

The minimum courseload for students in any Form is five academic courses in a single semester. In the senior year, courses designated as AS Studio Art may count as one of the five academic courses.

The maximum courseload for students in any Form is six academic courses in a single semester.
