

Overseeing Maintenance Is Both Time Consuming, Challenging

TUPELO, Miss. — While Blake Edwards has been the Tupelo Public School District Director of Maintenance the last two years, he has been a key part of the team for a total of 11 years.

A native of Mooreville who graduated there in 2010, he has never strayed far from home. After high school, this avid Mississippi State Bulldog fan attended Itawamba Community College and then began working immediately for TPSD.

He and his wife of 10 years, Brittney, have two children — Mollie and Rhett. And in September, they are expecting their third child.

When he isn't occupied by his job or family, he can be found reading The Bible, fishing, exercising or watching a car show.

Despite his busy schedule, he also devotes a lot of time to his church, East Heights Baptist, where he serves as a deacon.

When he does relax, nothing beats a family trip to Orange Beach, where he takes advantage of all the fresh seafood. Except for oysters. They are a no-go. And if seafood isn't on the menu, pizza and tacos will be the top choices.

This week's TPSD Administrative Focus and winner of a Buffalo Wild Wings gift card is Blake Edwards.
